ENGLISH RATIONALIZATION

1. A- Clearly, option A is the answer since that the rest of the options started with “Yes” which contradicts the statement “I don’t agree with the report”.
2. A- Option A is the correct answer because it expresses full conviction- as proven by the exclamation point.
3. B- At first glance one might think that the answer is A because the current issue against text messaging is on spelling but if we look closely, the question is concerned about the children’s whereabouts and totally not spelling.
4. B- The statement “I am used to the same tales” is a common idiomatic expression that connotes discontent towards repeated actions or happenings. But if ever this is the first time you heard this statement, you may use the phrase “used to” as a context clue.
5. D- Among the options given, A and C are the most unlikely, so we will just limit it to options B and D. Option B talks about the never ending cycle of emerging leaders, while option D mentioned things like “history”, “matched”, and “leaders”—thus, making D the correct answer.
6. C- This is an easy question to answer. We just have to think about the four seasons—Summer, Fall, Winter, and Spring. Normally, flowers start dying during fall, and would totally wither during winter. Flowers bloom normally during spring.
7. C- This question does not call for much thinking. Logic would tell us that the answer is indeed option C because all the other options contradict what the given sentence tells about.
8. B- This question could also be under the Grammar section because this concerns consistency or tense. The answer is B “caught-up” because clearly, the sentence is in the past tense and not in the past progressive (was catching)— because the action is not a continuing action in the past, nor in the present tense (catch-up)— because the other verbs in the statement are in the past tense, and definitely not in the present perfect tense (has caught)—because the action is no longer happening at present and at the same time it ended not in the very recent past.
9. C- This question could also be under Vocabulary section because this concerns semantics. By using context clues, we can clearly and surely say that the answer is C “conspicuously”. The phrase “brightly colored” greatly helps us in determining the correct answer. Webster defined “conspicuously” as an adjective meaning “visible”— and we all know that brightly colored vests are used by those who want to be seen visibly.
10. B- This question is almost a give-away. The obvious answer is B “past” because the other options are clearly not in any way connected or related to the statement.
11. D- In this particular question, we can immediately eliminate options A and C. We just have to decide if which among B and D is the correct answer B “flourished” could also be the answer, but if we would think carefully, we should consider the clause “when the scientific discoveries started” We just have to remember that scientific discoveries would have to be one of the reasons for the “rebirth” and without those discoveries, the renaissance would not take place. Having said this, the word “flourished” is no longer appropriate.
12. A- Constructivist is the answer because this theory is about constructing new knowledge based on prior knowledge or schema.

13. A- In this particular question we can immediately eliminate options C and D. B which “willingness to listen” is not the answer because the statement “join the mass demonstration!” does not only call for passive listening, but for active participation, or at least sympathy.

14. A- Among the choices, option B “elected” is the most unlikely. Option C “deposed” means to be ousted or deprived from office or official rank; option D “dethroned” is considered a synonym of “deposed” which leaves us to option A “replaced”—the most appropriate since that the sentence states that the former president is not ousted but succeeded.

15. B- The answer is B because the word “pulchritude” means physical beauty and grace. But if ever you have no idea about the dictionary definition of this word, you can use your context clues abilities. The word “Venus” is the most helpful clue. As we all know Venus is the Roman goddess of beauty—this fact will help us in determining the right answer.

16. B- The answer is B because “herald” means to usher in or to proclaim. But if ever you have no idea about the dictionary definition of this word, just think about one famous Christmas song that goes like “hark the HERALD angel sing...” “At times our prior knowledge about words is useful in trying to derive meaning from a given word.

17. B- The answer is B because the word “automate” means to install or to convert to automation equipment. Thus “to operate through machines” is indeed the best answer.

18. D- The answer is D because “reticent” (C) means reserved, “taciturn” (A) means habitually silent, “reserved” (B) mean selfrestrained. Options A, B and C are almost synonymous, while D “verbose” means wordy. It is also unlikely for a president to be reserved, since that being the head of an organizations/ state requires a lot of verbal skills.

19. B- “Hiatus” means gap, and clearly option B, “lapse” is the nearest definition. But if you have no idea about the dictionary meaning of “hiatus”, you may use your text clues abilities. By just reading the statement you would have an idea that there is a gap of four years before the persona was able to return to her country.

20. C- The word “excruciating” has always been an adjective to describe extreme pain. Having said this, options A (mild), B(slight), and D (endurable) are not appropriate to be used in the given statement about fractured bones.

21. C- At first reading, we can already eliminate options B and D. We just have to decide whether “compliment” or “complement” is the most suitable answer “Compliment” means an expression of admiration and praise, while “complement” means a thing that would complete the whole. Clearly, the answer is indeed option C- “Complement”

22. A- “Culpable” means deserving of blame and censure. Given this definition, we can say that A- “guilty” is the best answer. But if ever you have no idea about the dictionary definition of the word, you may use your context clues abilities and try to consider the word “suspect” as your clue.

23. D- In this particular question, we can immediately eliminate options C (studying) and A (emanating). We can just limit our choice to either B (appreciating) or D (emulating). But since the statement is about heroes plus the fact that the word “worth” is present, option D “emulating” which means to try to equal or surpass is indeed the best answer.

24. A-The word “erratic” means not conforming to standards. It could also mean irregular, thus making option A “Inconsistent” the best answer.

25. B-This is a give-away question, but you must read it carefully. The answer is B “ductile” because if a material is ductile, it can be hammered into thin layers without being broken into pieces.

26. D- “Ersatz” means substitute. Given this definition, we can say that the closest word to “substitute” is option D—“artificial” But if ever you don’t have any idea about the dictionary definition, you can easily answer this question by choosing the word that doesn’t go along with the other options. In this particular item all of the options are quite synonymous except option D.

27. C-Without even knowing what the word “hubhub” means, since that most of the dictionaries don’t have this word on their list, we can use the classification method in determining the best answer. Among the choices, option C-“commotion” is the only one not synonymous to the other options given, making it the correct and best answer.

28. D- This question is again a give-away. Even without using the dictionary, we can easily answer this particular item by just looking at the set of options. Option D “honorable” is the answer because among the choices given, it is the only one that is positive.

29. D-The word “frivolous” means void of significance and reason. It could also mean trivial or unimportant. That is why option D “worthless” is the best answer.

30. D-The answer is “courteously” because among the choices given, this is the only attribute that is expected from a government employee.

31. B- “gullible” is the answer because normally, fairy tales and mystery novels have plots that are too fancy to believe in—making readers believe in the impossible and at times in the “illogical”

32. C-The answer is “pronoun” because all other given options are content words. Content words are those that carry meaning-nouns, verbs, adverbs, and adjectives are samples of this. On the other hand functions words are those that don’t have any meaning if isolated with the content words—preposition, conjunctions, and pronouns are samples of this. In addition, function words are just there to give support to content word , and so, a sentence filled with function words would be normally dull.

33. B-“used to” is the answer because this phrase connotes an action that was done consistently in the past while the other options that used modals such as could and may connotes ability and possibility.

34. B-This items concerns tense. The answer “has seated” is in the present perfect tense and it truly fits the thought of the sentence. Remember that the present perfect tense connotes actions that started in the past and would have two possible outcomes—(1) still happening, (2) recently ended. In the sentence “She_____ at the computer for 6 long hours”, we are not certain if the subject is still using the computer. You might confuse this to be under the past perfect tense because of the sentence that followed. “Finally, she took a break”, remember that if the two independent clauses are not separated by a period like “She_____ at the computer for 6 long hours before she finally took a break” then we must use the past perfect tense. But in this item there are three separate sentences.

35. C-The answer is “has been working” because the subject is singular, that is why we can’t use have. We must not also use had because it is only used in sentences in the past perfect or past perfect progressive tenses.

36. C-“and” is the answer because we are just merely enumerating things.

37. A-The sentence in this item is an “If clause” and so the tense must be consistent. It is also unlikely for us to use “was” or “am” for it has always been “If I were...”

38. C-Remember that “I” is used as the subject or the doer of the action, while “me” is used as the receiver of the action. In the sentence given in this item the pronoun is the receiver of the action and that is why “me” is the answer.

39. A-Always remember that verbs of senses may take two forms, (1) as a linking verb, or as a (2) action verb. If it functions as a linking verb, then it must be followed by an adjective. On the other hand, if it functions as an action verb, then it must be followed by an adverb. In this sentence, since that candy cane is not capable of moving, we can say that “smells” functions as a linking verb, so it must be followed by the adjective “sweet”

40. B-The answer is “has chosen” because the sentence states a condition that’s started in the past and still true at present

41. D-“signed” is the answer because it only has one syllable and that affected its ending /ed/ sound.

42. D-“played” is the answer because all other words are with /t/ end sounds.

43. D-“buys” is the answer because all other given words end with /s/ sounds “b u y s” ends with /z/ sound because the sound before the letter “s” is voiced

44. D-“needed” is the answer because among the given options it is the only one with more than one syllable-that changed the ending /ed/ sound to /id/

45. B-“excursion” is the answer because all the other options have either /ch/ or /sh/ sounds

46. A-Is the answer because the quotation given is one Manuel L. Quezon’s most famous.

47. A-is the answer because the quotation given is one of Benigno Aquino’s most famous quotes, plus the fact that this quotation can be found on our 500 peso bill.

48. D-“curiosity” and “rich imagination” would be our two possible answers, but D is better than C because asking “why” is being curious, while asking “why not” is being imaginative.

49. D-“Brotherhood” is the answer because all the other options are its antonyms.

50. A-The answer is simile because the statement compared two objects using the word “as”

51. B-Stevan Javellana

52. B-The statement given is a direct comparison, that is why the answer is metaphor

53. C-Jose Rizal

54. D-Nick Joaquin

55. A-“Am” is the answer because being a verb of being nit connotes a statement of condition.

56. C-These lines were taken from the musical “cats” and if we are to read/sing these lines, loneliness would be the obvious emotion.

57. D-is the best answer because all the other options debunk the main statement.

58. D-is the most appropriate answer because all other options are not in anyway related to the quotation and some options debunk the statement.

59. C-Because option C somewhat states that our commitments would describe and determine the person that we are.

60. A-“Security” is the answer because all the options given constitute to it. Option A embraces the importance of “family”, “duty”, and “investment

ENGLISH GRAMMAR REVIEWER

RULES AND APPLICATIONS

SUBJECT VERB AGREEMENT

Basic Rule

The basic rule states that a singular subject takes a singular verb, while a plural subject takes a plural verb.

NOTE: The trick is in knowing whether the subject is singular or plural. The next trick is recognizing a singular or plural verb.

Hint: Verbs do not form their plurals by adding an s as nouns do. In order to determine which verb is singular and which one is plural, think of which verb you would use with he or she and which verb you would use with they.

Example: talks, talk

Which one is the singular form? Which word would you use with he? We say, "He talks." Therefore, talks is singular. We say, "They talk." Therefore, talk is plural.

Rule 1

Two singular subjects connected by 'or' or 'nor' require a singular verb.

Example: My aunt or my uncle is arriving by train today.

Rule 2

Two singular subjects connected by 'either/or' or 'neither/nor' require a singular verb as in Rule 1.

Examples: Neither Juan nor Carmen is available. Either Kiana or Casey is helping today with stage decorations.

Rule 3

When I is one of the two subjects connected by 'either/or' or 'neither/nor', put it second and follow it with the singular verb am.

Example: Neither she nor I am going to the festival.

Rule 4

When a singular subject is connected by 'or' or 'nor' to a plural subject, put the plural subject last and use a plural verb.

Example: The serving bowl or the plates go on that shelf.

Rule 5

When a singular and plural subject are connected by 'either/or' or 'neither/nor', put the plural subject last and use a plural verb.

Example: Neither Jenny nor the others are available.

Rule 6

As a general rule, use a plural verb with two or more subjects when they are connected by 'and'.

Example: A car and a bike are my means of transportation.

Rule 7

Sometimes the subject is separated from the verb by words such as 'along with, as well as, besides, or not'. Ignore these expressions when determining whether to use a singular or plural verb.

Examples: The politician, along with the newsmen, is expected shortly. Excitement, as well as nervousness, is the cause of her shaking.

Rule 8

The pronouns 'each, everyone, every one, everybody, anyone, anybody, someone, and somebody' are singular and require singular verbs. Do not be misled by what follows 'of'.

Examples: Each of the girls sings well. Every one of the cakes is gone.

NOTE: Everyone is one word when it means everybody. Every one is two words when the meaning is each one.

Rule 9

With words that indicate portions—percent, fraction, part, majority, some, all, none, remainder, and so forth—look at the noun in your 'of' phrase (object of the preposition) to determine whether to use a singular or plural verb. If the object of the preposition is singular, use a singular verb. If the object of the preposition is plural, use a plural verb.

Examples: Fifty percent of the pie has disappeared. Pie is the object of the preposition of. Fifty percent of the pies have disappeared. Pies is the object of the preposition. One-third of the city is unemployed. One-third of the people are unemployed.

NOTE: Hyphenate all spelled-out fractions.

All of the pie is gone. All of the pies are gone. Some of the pie is missing. Some of the pies are missing. None of the garbage was picked up.

None of the sentences were punctuated correctly. Of all her books, none have sold as well as the first one.

Rule 10

The expression 'the number' is followed by a singular verb while the expression 'a number' is followed by a plural verb.

Examples: The number of people we need to hire is thirteen. A number of people have written in about this subject.

Rule 11

When 'either' and 'neither' are subjects, they always take singular verbs.

Examples: Neither of them is available to speak right now. Either of us is capable of doing the job.

Rule 12

The words here 'and' there have generally been labeled as adverbs even though they indicate place. In sentences beginning with here or there, the subject follows the verb.

Examples: There are four hurdles to jump. There is a high hurdle to jump.

Rule 13

Use a singular verb with sums of money or periods of time.

Examples: Ten dollars is a high price to pay. Five years is the maximum sentence for that offense.

Rule 14

Sometimes the pronoun 'who, that, or which' is the subject of a verb in the middle of the sentence. The pronouns who, that, and which become singular or plural according to the noun directly in front of them. So, if that noun is singular, use a singular verb. If it is plural, use a plural verb.

Examples: Salma is the scientist who writes/write the reports. The word in front of who is scientist, which is singular. Therefore, use the singular verb writes. He is one of the men who does/do the work. The word in front of who is men, which is plural. Therefore, use the plural verb do.

Rule 15

Collective nouns such as team and staff may be either singular or plural depending on their use in the sentence.

Examples: The staff is in a meeting.

Staff is acting as a unit here. The staff are in disagreement about the findings. The staff are acting as separate individuals in this example. The sentence would read even better as: The staff members are in disagreement about the findings.
