TEACHER

1. Which of the following is not a form of intrapersonal communication?

A. Internal discourse like thinking, analysis, contemplation, meditation

B. Solo vocal communication like thinking aloud, soliloquies

C. Scholarly lectures, recollection activities

D. Solo written communication not intended for others like diaries, or personal journals

TEACHER

Level / Context of Speech Communication

Intrapersonal – involves only oneself.

- Internal discourse like thinking, analysis, contemplation, meditation
- Solo vocal communication like thinking aloud, soliloquies
- Solo written communication not intended for others like diaries, or personal journals

Interpersonal – involves an exchange between sender and receiver of a message. It may be direct (face-to-face) or indirect (via telephone, e-mail, teleconference)

- Dyadic communication ; two people talking
- Group communication ; study group, committee meetings
- Public communication ; scholarly lectures, political campaigns

TEACHER

2. Which of the following speeches is delivered without preparation?

- A. impromptu
- B. manuscript
- C. memorized
- D. extemporaneous

TEACHER

3. An oral reading activity with speakers presenting literature in a dramatic form

- A. reading concert
- B. chamber theater
- C. speech choir
- D. interpretative reading

TEACHER

Types of oral interpretation

1. Solo interpretation

- Story telling – oral sharing of a personal or traditional story; it may be illustrative (using drawings) or creative / dramatic (using gestures and creative movements) for entertaining or educating
- Interpretative / interpretive reading – also called dramatic reading, oral reading, or reading aloud by using the elements of voice and diction to convey meaning and mood
- Declamation – recitation of a poem from memory and is marked by strong feelings
- Monologue – interpretative oral performance of prose or poetry in which the interpreter plays a role

2. Group interpretation

- Reading concert – also known as Readers Theatre- oral reading activity with speakers presenting literature in a dramatic form
- Chamber Theater – theatrical approach to performing narrative literature
- Speech Choir – also choral reading, choric interpretation, vocal orchestration – ensemble reading technique where a group of readers recite as one in coordinated voices and related interpretation :
(1) reading in unison – several voices sound like one instrument, (2) solo and chorus – soloists recite lines and chorus recites refrains, (3) responsive reading – lines are recited alternately by solo or chorus

TEACHER

4. What type of communication takes place when the head of the school sends information to teachers by means of memoranda, notices and announcements.

A. horizontal

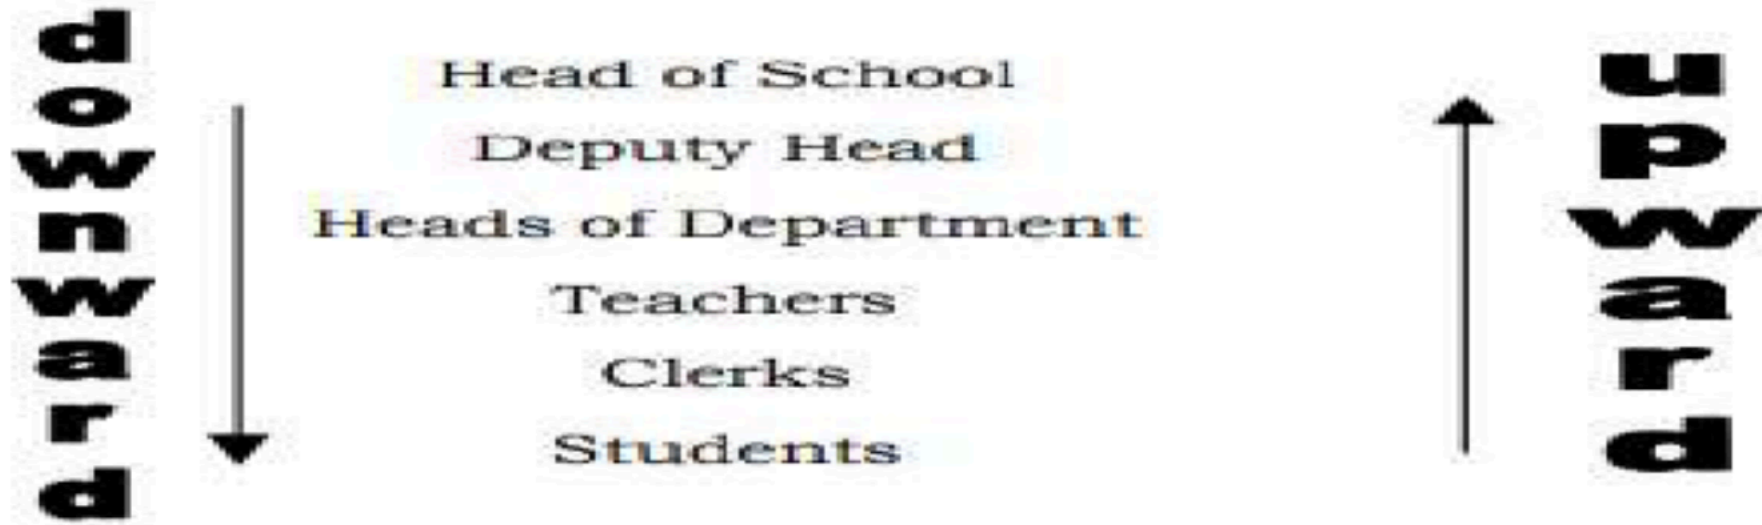

B. vertical

C. diagonal

D. external communication

TEACHER

Adapted from Jacobson (1978: 6).

TEACHER

5. This exists when one considers one's culture and habits as better than those of other people.

A. Ethnocentrism

B. Generalization

C. Stereotyping

D. Lack of shared coding system

TEACHER

Cultural Barriers

- ✓ Lack of shared code system. Code systems are different for different communities. For example, a nod in one community may not mean a 'yes' as it might in other communities.
- ✓ Differences between beliefs and behavior. Different cultures have different beliefs and behaviors. In some cultures, for example, it is considered rude for children to question their parents or look an elder straight in the eye when being reprimanded.
- ✓ Lack of understanding of the deeper meaning and idioms of other cultures.
- ✓ Ethnocentrism. This exists when one considers one's culture and habits as better than those of other people.
- ✓ Generalization. This occurs when you make unreasonable assumptions about groups of people.
- ✓ Stereotyping. This is an oversimplified and one-sided view of other people and their culture.

TEACHER

6. Which of the following is an external communication barrier?

- A. Physical appearance of the sender
- B. Lack of interest or knowledge.
- C. Personality problems between the sender and the receiver of information.
- D. Emotions of both the sender and the receiver.

External Barriers of Effective Communication

- ✓ Physical appearance of written information. Information that is not clearly presented in terms of layout, handwriting and arrangement of ideas may be difficult to follow.
- ✓ Physical appearance of the sender. In face-to-face situations, the recipient of the information may be influenced negatively by the physical appearance of the sender.
- ✓ Use of inappropriate method for sending information. It is important to decide when to write or when to send information verbally.
- ✓ Poor planning and timing.
- ✓ Conflicting priorities. For example, a leader may not have set goals and objectives in collaboration with other members of staff.
- ✓ Power differences. Due to their positions, a supervisor and a supervisee may view a situation differently.
- ✓ Poor listening skills of both the sender and the receiver. This occurs in face-to-face and telephone communication when the two parties do not listen closely to each other.

TEACHER

Internal Barriers of Effective Communication

- ✓ Lack of interest or knowledge. This occurs when the sender or recipient or both are not interested or have little or no knowledge about the subject being discussed.
- ✓ Personality problems between the sender and the receiver. When both parties have personality differences, whatever they try to communicate with each other is likely to be influenced by their differences.
- ✓ Emotions of both the sender and the receiver. If both the sender and receiver of information are not in good emotional moods, then communication between the two is adversely affected.
- ✓ Receiver's internal distractions. The person receiving the information might have her or his own problems.

TEACHER

7. This occurs when the meaning of the original information is changed.

A. conflicting messages

B. disorganized messages

C. information overload

D. serial distortion

TEACHER

Verbal Barriers of Effective Communication

- ✓ Language. The inappropriate use of words and the tone of the language may be barriers to communication.
- ✓ Unclear message. In this situation, the receiver is not clear about what the sender of information is attempting to communicate.
- ✓ Conflicting messages. A number of messages with different kinds of information may be sent. Information in the messages may be significantly different, yet the subject matter is the same.
- ✓ Disorganized messages. The information being transmitted may be so mixed up that it is difficult to follow.
- ✓ Information overload. This frequently occurs when there is a lot of unnecessary detail included in a message.
- ✓ Serial distortion. This distortion occurs when the meaning of the original information is changed. This usually happens in cases where verbal information passes through a number of people.

TEACHER

8. What approach to reading recommends that the child should be acquainted with the letters of the alphabet at the very start.

A. Bloomfield Approach

B. Fries Approach

C. Eclectic Approach

D. Language Experience Approach

TEACHER

9. It is a strategy which views reading as an extension of speaking : thinking/experiencing, talking, writing, reading.

A. Bloomfield Approach

B. Fries Approach

C. Eclectic Approach

D. Language Experience Approach

TEACHER

Fries Approach – Charles Fries’ basic concept : Learning to read in one’s native language is learning to shift, to transfer, from auditory signs for the language signals which the child has already learned to visual or graphic signs for the same signals for language perception. The aim is to develop high-speed recognition responses to English spelling patterns.

Eclectic Approach

- 1. Reading as interest – development of the recreational reading habit; the major approach is personalized or individualized reading.
- 2. Reading as language process

TEACHER

10. believes that the English spelling system is essentially regular in its correspondence between letters and speech sounds and that letter sounds can be blended together to form words.

A. Linguistic Approach

B. Phonics Approach

C. Programmed Instruction

D. Skills Monitoring Approach

TEACHER

11. Reading is analyzed in terms of skills arranged in hierarchies.

A. Linguistic Approach

B. Phonics Approach

C. Programmed Instruction

D. Skills Monitoring Approach

TEACHER

The Skills Monitoring Approach

This approach entails:

- (1) a scope and sequence chart of reading skills
- (2) a battery of tests for preassessment of reading abilities
- (3) based on test results, instruction to adjust to pupils' interest, abilities, and needs
- (4) a continuous assessment using both formative and summative tests
- (5) a corrective or remedial measures
- (6) an adequate and challenging enrichment activities for the bright pupils

TEACHER

- Programmed Instruction – includes step-by-step learning, learning, immediate feedback, regular and constant review and individual progress through materials.
- The Basal Textbook Approach – follows this general format : scope-and-sequence or flow chart for all an overall view of skills; kindergarten readiness workbooks; first grade, second grade and above skillbooks; teacher's guides and assessment tests. The standard basal text lesson follows these steps:
 - (a) background or motivation
 - (b) vocal development
 - (c) purposeful or guided silent reading
 - (d) discussion
 - (e) purposeful rereading
 - (f) skill instruction in word recognition, comprehension skill with the use of workbooks
 - (g) enrichment activities

TEACHER

12. “Henry VIII, a glutton for punishment, had six wives. What is the underlined phrase?

- A. appositive
- B. restrictive clause
- C. non-restrictive clause
- D. independent clause

an amplifying word or phrase placed next to the term it refers to and set off by commas

TEACHER

Restrictive and Nonrestrictive Relative Clauses

- A restrictive clause modifies directly, and so restricts the meaning of the antecedent it refers back to, e.g., “This is the girl that started all the fun.” One specific girl is intended. The relative clause is not set off by a comma.
- A nonrestrictive clause, though still a dependent clause, does not directly modify its antecedent and is set off by commas. “These girls, who came from Iloilo, are all sweet and charming.”

TEACHER

13. Phrases or clauses arranged independently, in a coordinate construction, and often without connectives

- A. parataxis
- B. hypotaxis
- C. chiasmus
- D. anaphora

TEACHER

Parataxis – Phrases or clauses arranged independently, in a coordinate construction, and often without connectives, e.g., “I came, I saw, I conquered.”

Hypotaxis – Phrases or clauses arranged in a dependent, subordinate relationship, e.g., “I came, and after I came and looked around a bit, I decided, well, why not, and so conquered.”

Chiasmus – is the basic pattern of antithetical inversion, the AB:BA pattern. The best example is probably from John F. Kennedy’s first inaugural address: “Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country.”

Anaphora – begins a series of phrases, clauses, or sentences with the same word. Churchill’s exhortation in 1940: “We have become the sole champion now in arms to defend the world cause. We shall do our best to be worthy of this high honor. We shall defend our island home, and with the British Empire we shall fight on unconquerable until the curse of Hitler is lifted from the brows of mankind. We are sure that in the end all will come right.”

TEACHER

14. While reading orally, John's word error range is from 2 to 5 word calling errors per 100 words of text (95% accuracy or better), with at least 80 percent comprehension on simple recall questions about the story. In what level does his reading ability belong?

- A. Independent Reading Level
- B. Successful Reading Level
- C. Frustration Reading Level
-  D. Instructional Reading Level

TEACHER

Review of Reading Levels

Reading Level	Word Recognition Percentage	Comprehension Percentage
Independent	99-100%	90-100%
Instructional	95-98%	75-89%
Instructional or Frustrational	91-94%	51-74%
Frustration	90% or less	50% or less

TEACHER

15. Don, a Grade 4 pupil reads saw for was, say a b is a d, skips, omits, or adds words when he reads out loud, rites 41 for 14, shows no difference 1 2 3 and 123, act and car, + and X, and between OIL and 710. What learning difficulty does he suffer from?

A. Dyscalcula

B. Dyslexia

C. Dysgraphia

D. Reading miscues

TEACHER

Name of LD	Challenge	Example Problems in School
Dyslexia	Reading	Problems reading, writing, spelling, speaking, fine motor, memorizing, understanding time, and focus
Dysgraphia	Handwriting and written word organization	Hard to write, make letters stay on line, and space letters. Often prints. Hard to organize ideas and spell.
Dyscalculia	Math	Problems understanding and using symbols, number sense, math problems, time, and money.
Auditory Processing Disorder	Understanding & Responding	Language (hearing, understanding, and speaking), reading, and comprehension.
ADHD	Focus & Attention	Problems focusing, & with impulsiveness, hyperactivity, or inattentiveness. Problems with self-motivation and control.

TEACHER

16. What should teachers avoid in order to help pupils with learning difficulties remediate their challenges?

- A. For a child with difficulty in speaking, allow extra time for the child to respond instead of hurrying him to give an answer, teach vocabulary word clearly, practice sentence building and sequencing, introduce 'talking partners' and use speaking frames.
- B. For a child who has difficulty in planning, organizing ideas and formulating language, provide sequencing, idea/ concept mapping activities, use reading sessions to explore meaning, cause and effect, and teach and guide pupils how to use coloured pens to highlight different sort of information for note-taking revision etc.
- C. For the child who has difficulty with interaction, use auditory aids, repeat an instruction if requested, phrase questions carefully, and use open-ended questions requiring an elaboration ('what do you like to drink?') than closed questions indicating a preference ('Do you want orange or milk?')
- D. For a child who has reading difficulty, use imitative, repeated and impress method which are characterized by the use of more than one physical sense.

TEACHER

17. Fe, a Grade 5 pupil has difficulty completing school work, using writing in everyday situations, producing letter on paper, and may not understand the relationship between letters, words, and sounds, show weaknesses in understanding letter/ sound connections, and in fine motor skills. What learning difficulty does she suffer from?

A. Dyscalcula

B. Dyslexia

C. Dysgraphia

D. Digraph

TEACHER

18. Self – monitoring and paying attention belong to which category of learning strategies identified by Oxford in 1989?

A. Metacognitive

B. Dyslexia

C. Dysgraphia

D. Digraph

19. Which of the following statements does not describe correctly the given illustration of miscue analysis?

Text:

The parachute did not seem to be working.

Child read read aloud:

The film did not seem to be working.

Miscue:

(N) film

The parachute did not seem to be working.

A. There is no graphic similarity

B. It is syntactically incorrect

C. It is semantically correct

D. It is syntactically incorrect

TEACHER

20. Which of the following characterizes a “strategic reader”?

- A. Refers to the dictionary when an unfamiliar word is encountered in the text
- B. Chooses reading materials that are easier to read
-  C. Preview a selection and rereads difficult passages
- D. Refrains from taking notes while reading

TEACHER

21. Which of the following statements accurately describes the Bottom-Up Model of Reading?

- A. Suggest that the reader construct meaning from all available sources
- B. The primary focus of instruction should be the reading of whole selections
-  C. Reading is driven by the text, not the reader.
- D. The emphasis is on comprehension, not decoding.

TEACHER

22. Don, a grade three pupil finds it difficult to relate his thoughts and feelings through speaking and writing. He may find it hard to recall the right word and may try to communicate using gestures and sound effects. When he does speak it will often be in short phrases or sentences which may show incorrect grammar or tense. After undergoing diagnosis, Don is found to suffer from _____.

- A. expressive disorder
- B. receptive disorder
- C. auditory processing disorder
- D. phonological difficulty

TEACHER

23. Which of these words is an example of slang?

A. Spyware

B. Goalie

C. Ammo

D. Scrub suit

TEACHER

24. The following statements characterize ESP in the context of English language teaching, EXCEPT _____.

A. it is designed to meet specified needs of the learner

B. is related in content to particular disciplines, occupations and activities

C. it is centered on the language appropriate to those activities in syntax, lexis, discourse, semantics, etc., and analysis of this discourse

D. It is in contrast with General English

TEACHER

25. Which item is an example of an ESP needs analysis?

- A. Psychoanalysis
- B. Material-based Analysis
- C. Advocacy Analysis
-  D. Target Situation Analysis

TEACHER

26. Which among the list of activities below should be prioritized or used in an ESP class?

A. Simulation

B. Feasibility studies

C. Case Studies

D. Research

TEACHER

27. Which is a jargon of academe?

- A. pedagogy
- B. leverage
- C. deficit
- D. bureaucracy

TEACHER

28. Which is an example of a course for English for Occupational Purposes (EOP)?

- A. English for Counseling
- B. English for Classroom Application
- C. English for Technicians
- D. English for Social Advocacy

TEACHER

29. Slang expression are any of the following EXCEPT _____.

- A. expressions that are not considered standard in speaker's language or dialect
- B. considered acceptable in certain social settings
-  C. widely used in informal and formal speech and writing
- D. very short and momentary expressions

TEACHER

30. Which of the following written output does NOT qualify as a product of English for Academic Purpose (EAP)?

A. Annual Reports

B. Financial Reports

C. Laboratory Reports

D. Thesis abstracts

TEACHER

31. Which approach to language teaching anchors on the behaviorist assumption that language learning is the acquisition of a set of correct language habits and whose goal is to use the target language communicatively, overlearn it, so as to be able to use it automatically?

A. Focus Grammar-Translation Method

B. Direct Method

C. Suggestopedia

 D. Audio-Lingual Method

TEACHER

32. The curriculum goes through the stages of curriculum planning, curriculum implementation and curriculum evaluation; the production of instructional materials falls under _____.

A. curriculum planning and implementation

B. curriculum planning and evaluation

C. curriculum planning

D. curriculum evaluation

TEACHER

33. An important step in ensuring the relevance of the instructional materials to the rest of the curriculum is to keep is to keep list of _____.

A. policies issued by DepEd

B. vision and mission of the school

C. goals and objectives of the curriculum

D. curriculum standards

TEACHER

34. which type of syllabus is given examples by the following activities: writing notes and memos, reports, agendas, letters to companies, and reply letters?

- A. Situational syllabus
- B. Grammatical syllabus
-  C. Task-based syllabus
- D. Topical syllabus

TEACHER

35. Which is NOT a goal of K to 12 language teaching in the secondary level?

A. a. To link life, literature, and language and to integrate themes, texts, and tasks

B. To gain mastery of language forms and rules of usage

C. To hone independent study strategies through prescribed tasks.

D. To use differentiated instruction to accommodate varied learners' strategies

TEACHER

36. The primary aim of second language teaching using the audiolingual method is _____.

- A. reading comprehension
- B. vocabulary development
- C. literacy appreciation
- D. oral proficiency

TEACHER

37. Which of the following concepts is/are correctly defined?

I. A curriculum includes the philosophy, purpose design and implementation of whole program.

II. A course is an integrated series of teaching learning experiences, whose ultimate aim is lead the learners to a particular state of knowledge.

III. A syllabus is the specification and ordering of content of a courses.

A. I only

B. II only

C. I, II

 D. I, II, III

TEACHER

38. A teaching practice which is compatible with Communicative Approach is one that _____.

- A. derives and make explicit the grammatical rules of the language
- B. address the needs of the target learners
-  C. follow the listen-speak-read-write sequence of skills
- D. gives priority to oral proficiency

TEACHER

39. The K to 12 language teaching in secondary school can be described as follows EXCEPT it _____.

- A. is literature-based and genre-focused
- B. uses literacy and informative text
- C. uses culminating performance tasks
- D. focuses on common areas of difficulty in grammar

TEACHER

40. Newspaper articles, advertisement, radio announcement, etc. in the real world when used in the classroom situations are classified as ____.

- A. authentic materials
- B. mass communication materials
- C. audio-visual aids
- D. recycled materials

TEACHER

41. A plan of what to be achieved through the teaching and learning process which contains the course description, objectives, the prerequisites, the requirements , and the topics to be taught is the _____.

A. course outline

B. curriculum guide

C. course syllabus

D. lesson plan

TEACHER

42. Which of the following DOES NOT characterize the direct method of language teaching?

- A. It allows error and these errors are addressed by self-correction.
- B. The teacher illustrates and demonstrates meaning.
-  C. The target language is used as an auxiliary/ support language.
- D. The language is viewed as spoken than written.

TEACHER

43. The content of the language teaching in this type of syllabus is a collection of specific abilities that may play a part in using language. Which is referred to?

- A. Skill-based syllabus
- B. Task-based syllabus
- C. Content-based syllabus
- D. Notional-functional syllabus

TEACHER

44. The Teacher uses a contemporary and highly relevant song in presenting a lesson on conditional clauses. She provide activity sheet in which students indicated their regretful experiences and the possible outcome had they not done a certain regretful act. Then, the students were assigned on pair to share with a partner what they have written. The use of the song, the worksheet, the pair group, the teacher and the students' talk are provisions of which hypothesis in Krashen's Monitoring Model?

A. Affective Filter

B. Monitoring Output

 C. Comprehensible Input

D. Natural Order

TEACHER

45. Which conversational maxim is violated in this utterance? In the classroom, the students are noisy; the teacher spoke loud, “Class, I really appreciate your behaving quietly today. You see we can smoothly and clearly discuss our lesson.”

- A. Quality
- B. Quantity
- C. Relation
- D. Manner

TEACHER

46. The aspect of Communicative competence that deals with the appropriate use of communication and coping strategies is known as _____ competence.

- A. discourse
- B. sociolinguistic
- C. grammatical
- D. strategic

TEACHER

4 Dimensions of Communicative Competence

Canale and Swaine (1980)

- Grammatical competence refers to what Chomsky calls linguistic competence.
- Sociolinguistic competence refers to an understanding of the social context in which communication takes place (role relationships, shared beliefs, and information between participants...)
- Discourse competence refers to the interpretation of individual message elements in terms of their interconnectedness and how meaning is represented in relation to the entire discourse or text.
- Strategic competence refers to the coping strategies that participants use to initiate terminate, maintain, repair, and redirect communication

TEACHER

47. What is the classification of the morpheme in each of the following linguistic data: invert, covert, revert, subvert, divert?

- A. Grammatical bound morpheme
- B. Lexical free morpheme
- C. Grammatical free morpheme
- D. Lexical bound morpheme

TEACHER

48. In the phase structure rules, a prepositional phase consist of a preposition, followed by a

_____.

A. noun

B. objective pronoun

C. noun phrase

D. clause

TEACHER

49. Which is a sense property in which two words have the same sense, or same values for all of their semantic features? Example: “teacher” and “instructor”

A. Hyponymy

B. Deixis

C. Anaphora

D. Synonymy

TEACHER

50. What can be said about a polite expression such as, “Can you give me a glass of water?”

- A. It is an indirect illocutionary act.
- B. It is a direct illocutionary act.
- C. It is an implied locutionary act.
- D. It is a non-literal locutionary act.

TEACHER

51. In second language acquisition, what is the route to pidginization and fossilization of errors?

- A. Nativization and assimilation
- B. Nativization and accommodation
- C. Denativization and assimilation
- D. Denativization and accommodation

TEACHER

52. Teacher Betty justifies the inclusion of grammar in her lessons. According to her, it should be an integral part of the curriculum. What theory of second language acquisition explains Teacher Betty's justification?

A. Nativization Model

B. Accommodation Theory

C. Communicative Language Teaching

D. Monitor Model

TEACHER

53. Teacher Judy examines the reading selection that she will discuss in her class. She reads the selection to check whether the language and vocabulary might be too difficult for the students to understand? What theory explains this?

- A. a. $i+1$ hypothesis
- B. Scaffolding hypothesis
- C. Readability Test
- D. Emergent literacy

TEACHER

54. A Filipino family migrated to the US. After 5 years, the child's accent is typically Filipino. He did not learn the accent of the Americans. When the mother was asked why her son did not acquire the accent facility to communicate in English, she responded, "He didn't want to mingle with other children in the US. He was always at home." What explains this phenomenon?

- A. Accommodation theory
- B. Monitor Model
- C. Discourse Theory
- D. Nativization Model

TEACHER

55. Which of the following classes promotes the desired learning environment discussed in the learning-acquisition hypothesis of Monitor Model?

A. Teacher Judith teaches substitution drills after a discussion on grammatical structure.

B. Teacher Michael conducts a speech choir, emphasizing correct intonation and pronunciation.

C. Teacher Ben shows a news clip from CNN and asks students questions.

D. Teacher Lovely tells the class to write a letter following the correct format and structure.

TEACHER

56. The goal of the language teaching approach is learn grammar, vocabulary and culture. The teacher is the authority. He/She makes use of translation, deductive study of grammar, memorization of vocabulary. Which approach of language teaching is described?

-  A. Grammar-translation approach
- B. Natural approach
- C. Community language learning approach
- D. Direct approach

TEACHER

57. Which of the following does NOT justify the use of communicative language teaching?

- A. Within a social context, people need to perform the tasks and functions.
- B. Students perform well in class, but they are unable to perform communicative task outside the classroom.
-  C. Within a social context, people need to develop their cognitive abilities through their authentic text and content language.
- D. Students need to develop communicative competence as they enhance their linguistic competence.

TEACHER

58. Teacher Mary learned in her graduate degree class that language learning could be a result of cognitive processes, or the act of knowing something. Which of the following is a result of this principle?

- A. Content-based instruction
- B. Desuggestopedia
- C. Peripheral learning
- D. Total physical response

TEACHER

59. Which of the following is an example of a sentence fragment?

A. They fought

B. A family just moved in

 C. The boy and the girl's uncle

D. Quit it

TEACHER

60. Which of the following CANNOT function as intensive verbs?

A. Make

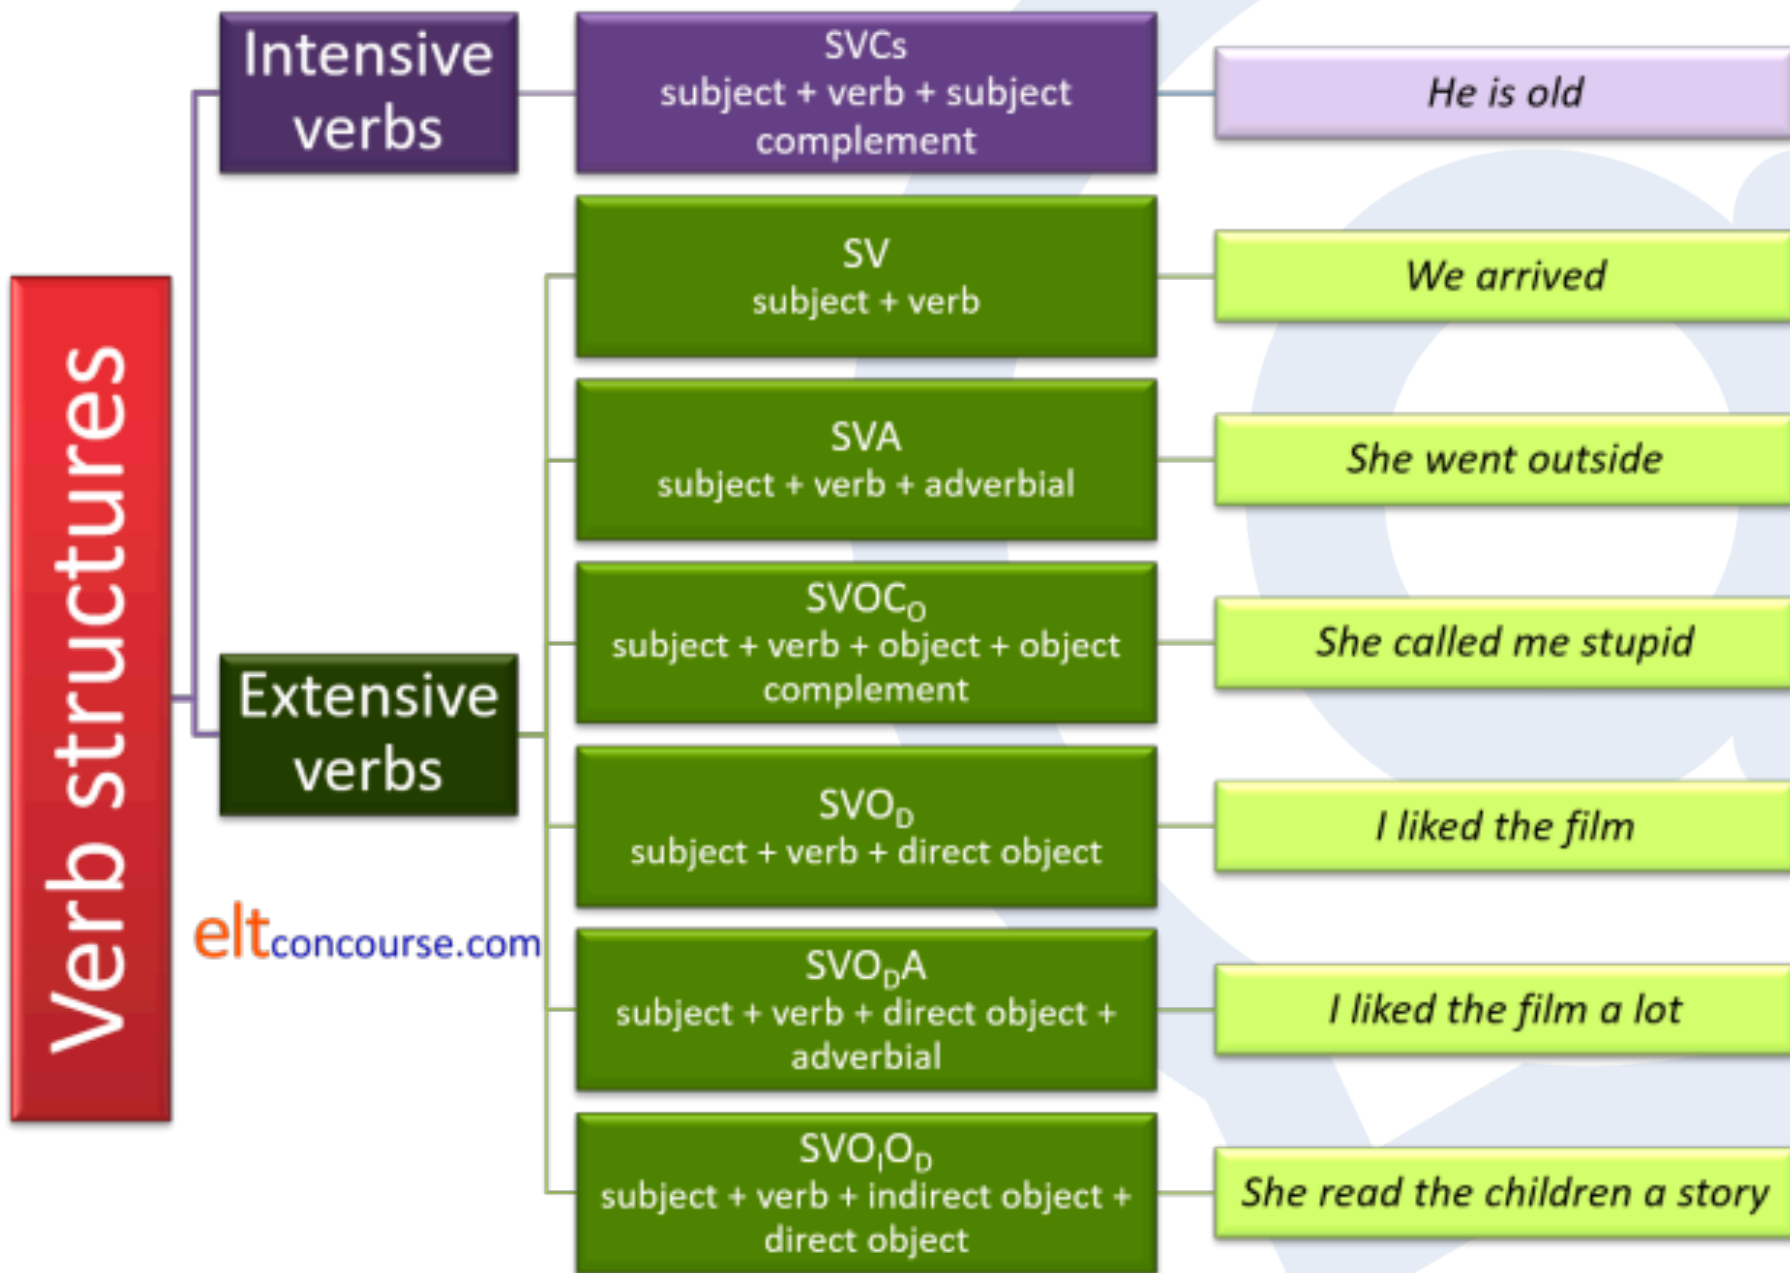

B. Seem

C. Turn

D. Remain

TEACHER

TEACHER

61. Which of the following statements best qualifies as a “complex” sentence?

- A. Don't make any comments unless you are fully aware of the issue.
- B. I didn't start this dispute and I don't want to have anything to do with it.
- C. You can wallow in your miseries or you can start over and move on.
- D. Jen likes her new house, but she doesn't like the front yard.

TEACHER

62. Which of the following concepts is NOT a concern of syntax?

- A. The Lexical categories
- B. Smaller units called constituents
- C. Structural analysis
- D. Distribution and function

TEACHER

63. Which approach to grammar refers to the structure of a language as it is actually used by speakers and writers?

A. Reference Grammar

B. Pedagogical Grammar

 C. Descriptive Grammar

D. Prescriptive Grammar

TEACHER

64. What type of essay provides an informational breakdown of a topic, educating readers using specific details?

A. Argumentative

B. Personal

C. Expository

D. Analytical

TEACHER

An essay is, generally, a piece of writing that gives the author's own argument.

Argumentative - writers make the case for a particular perspective, or to persuade the reader to agree with the writer's point of view by the time they reach the essay's conclusion.

Analytical - writers must communicate their interpretation of a given source or set of sources.

Expository - writers provide an informational breakdown of a topic, educating readers using specific details.

Personal - writers share experiences, often centered on a moment of realization or revelation.

TEACHER

65. What is the most important part of an essay?

A. introduction

B. body

C. conclusion

D. thesis statement

TEACHER

66. What area of knowledge involved in speaking covers pronunciation, grammar, and vocabulary?

A. mechanics

B. function

C. social and cultural rules and norms

D. all of the above

TEACHER

Three areas of knowledge involved in speaking:

1. Mechanics (pronunciation, grammar, and vocabulary): Using the right words in the right order with the correct pronunciation
2. Functions (transaction and interaction): Knowing when clarity of message is essential (transaction/information exchange) and when precise understanding is not required (interaction/relationship building)
3. Social and cultural rules and norms (turn-taking, rate of speech, length of pauses between speakers, relative roles of participants): Understanding how to take into account who is speaking to whom, in what circumstances, about what, and for what reason.

TEACHER

67. In teaching speaking, which of the following is designed to make learners comfortable producing specific language items recently introduced, sometimes in combination with previously learned items.

A. language input

B. structured output

C. communicative output

D. none of the above

TEACHER

TEACHING SPEAKING

The goal of teaching speaking skills is communicative efficiency. To help students develop communicative efficiency in speaking.

Language input comes in the form of teacher talk, listening activities, reading passages, and the language heard and read outside of class. It gives learners the material they need to begin producing language themselves.

Content-oriented input focuses on information, whether it is a simple weather report or an extended lecture on an academic topic.

Form-oriented input focuses on ways of using the language and the development of the different competencies in communication.

TEACHER

Structured output focuses on correct form. Structured output is designed to make learners comfortable producing specific language items recently introduced, sometimes in combination with previously learned items. Instructors often use structured output exercises as a transition between the presentation stage and the practice stage of a lesson plan. Textbook exercises also often make good structured output practice activities.

In communicative output, the learners' main purpose is to complete a task, such as obtaining information, developing a travel plan, or creating a video. In communicative output activities, the criterion of success is whether the learner gets the message across. Accuracy is not a consideration unless the lack of it interferes with the message.

TEACHER

68. The following are the characteristics of a good reader EXCEPT

A. They integrate information from the text with their existing knowledge.

B. They have a fixed or definite reading style.

C. They are motivated and they read for a purpose.

D. They rely on different skills interacting: recall, perceptual focusing, phonemic processing

RATIONALIZATION: Good readers have flexible style, depending on what they are reading.

TEACHER
