

ENGLISH – MAJORSHIP – COMPREHENSIVE HANDOUT

CATEGORY I - STRUCTURE OF ENGLISH

SUBJECT-VERB AGREEMENT/CONCORD RULES WHICH OFTEN CAUSE ERRORS

1. Collective nouns may take either a singular or plural verb inflection depending on the meaning.

Conceived of as one entity –takes a singular verb

- Our school team has won its games.

Conceived of as more than one entity or refers to individual membership –takes plural verb

- Our school team have won all their games.

2. Some common and proper nouns ending in –s, including –ics nouns and certain diseases are always conceived as single entity –take a plural verb.

- The recent news is exciting.
- Mathematics is repelling to many students.
- Measles is a contagious disease.
- The United States is still a powerful country.

3. Titles of works even when plural in form are conceived of as single entities.

- The Ten Commandments is a beautiful movie.
- The Syntax Files is good reading for those in linguistics.
- The song Greenfields brings nostalgia to people of my generation.

4. Nouns occurring in sets of two take the singular when the noun pair is present but take the plural when pair is absent.

- That pair of Lee jeans is expensive.
- My glasses are missing.

5. Fractions and percentages takes a singular verb inflection when modifying a noncount noun and a plural verb when they modify a plural noun. Either a singular or plural verb inflection may be used when they modify a collective noun, depending on the speaker's meaning.

- More than half of the cake is eaten.

- Twenty percent of the students are not joining the field trip.
- One-fourth of the audience is/are teachers.

6. A number normally takes the plural. The number takes the singular.

- A number of parents are coming for the meeting.
- The number of signatories is substantial to merit approval of the motion.

7. When we use a number and a plural noun to talk about two or more things, we usually use a plural verb. We use a singular verb with 'one'.

- Seven days make up a week.
- One solid evidence is enough to prove his dishonesty.

8. When we are talking about an amount of money or time, or a distance, speed, or weight, we usually use a number, a plural noun, and a singular verb.

- Five hundred dollars is a lot of money.
- Three years is a long time to wait for a family member from abroad to come home.
- Eighty kilometers per hour of travel is quite risky on slippery roads.
- Seventy-five pounds is all she weighs now.

9. Arithmetic operations take the singular because they are perceived as reflecting a single numerical entity on both sides of the equation or equal sign.

Two plus two is/equals four.

10. The quantifiers a lot (of), lots of, and plenty of take a singular verb if the subject noun is noncount by plural verb if the subject head noun is plural.

- A lot of sound views were advanced during the discussion.
- A lot of nonsense is evident from uninterested participants.

11. Traditional grammar states that when used as a subject, none (meaning not one) is always singular regardless of what follows in a prepositional phrase.

- None of the boys joins the mountaineering group.
- None of the rice is eaten at all.

12. Traditional grammar maintains that the antecedent of the relative pronoun is the noun before.

- Alice is one of the graduate students who have finished her master's degree in a short period of time.

13. For correlatives either . . . or and neither . . . nor, traditional grammar argues for a proximity rule, i.e., subject-verb agreement should occur with the subject noun nearest to the verb.

- Either my friend or my classmates are expected to help me with my project.
- Neither my classmates nor my friend volunteers to lend support.

14. A singular noun or pronoun should take a singular verb inflection regardless of what else occurs between the subject and the verb.

- Jimmy, along with his co-teachers, conducts a cleanliness campaign in the barangay.

15. In questions, subjects don't always come before verbs. Identify accurately the subject before deciding on the proper verb to use.

- Does your father usually go jogging?
- What are the pages our teacher wants us to read?

BASIC SENTENCE PATTERNS

Below are basic patterns around which most English sentences are built.

1. N be Adj = where the adjective is a SUBJECT COMPLEMENT, in particular a PREDICATE ADJECTIVE.

The adjective refers back to the subject. The copula verb be means "may be described as."

Roses are sweet. (Subject complement = predicate adjective)

2. N be UW (= uninflected word) = where the uninflected word is an ADVERBIAL such as here, there, up, down, in, out, inside, upstairs, downstairs, on, off, now, then, yesterday, and tomorrow. Be has the meaning of “be located” or “occur.”

The meeting was yesterday. (adverbial)

3. N1 be N1^s where the superscript means that the two nouns have the same referent. The second noun following the be verb is also a SUBJECT COMPLEMENT, in particular a PREDICATE NOUN or PREDICATE NOMINATIVE.

Her neighbor is my cousin. (subject complement = predicate nominative)

4. N InV (= intransitive verb) = where the INTRANSITIVE VERB does not require an object. The verb being self-sufficient can stand alone with its subject.

Glasses break.

5. N1 TrV (= transitive V) N2 = where N2 does not have the same referent as N1. N2 is called the DIRECT OBJECT of the verb, “the receiver of the action.”

The girl buys yellow roses.

6. N1 TrV N2 N3 = where the superscripts 1, 2, and 3 indicate that each noun has a different referent.

Mother gave a gift to the orphan. (usually reads as Mother gave the orphan a gift.)

Two noun objects occur after the verb. Still N2 is the direct object and N3 is the INDIRECT OBJECT. If we omit the last noun, the pattern is identical to that in item 5. Note that the indirect object is preceded by the preposition to (sometimes for or of). If the two objects are inverted, the preposition disappears.

- ✓ He made a toy house for her.
- ✓ He made her a toy house.
- ✓ The teacher asked a question of her.
- ✓ The teacher asked her a question.

7. N1 + TrV + (N2, Adj, Pronoun, Adv of place, uninflected Verb, present participle, Verb, past participle) There are choices of different forms in sentence final position.

These are illustrated as follows:

- (object complement) The class voted Henry secretary.
- (adjective) The principal found the gardener efficient.
- (pronoun) We considered the writer you.
- (adverb of place) The teacher directed them outside.
- (present participle) She saw them praying.
- (past participle) I imagine my father overworked.

The most common illustration of this sentence pattern is one with the occurrence of a final N 2

Aspects of Functional Grammar

1. Tenor - The participants in a discourse, their relationships to each other, and their purposes
2. Field - the subject matter or content being discussed.
3. Mode - the channel (such as writing, talking, or video-conference) of the communication.

Classification of Parts of Speech

- ✓ Content Words/ Lexical Morphemes (open class) Focuses on content or MEANING of the word noun, verb, adjective, adverb
- ✓ Function/ Grammatical Morpheme (closed pronoun, Words/class) Focuses on the usage
or STRUCTURE of words; conjunctions preposition, auxiliary, determiners

NOUN- Names of person, place, things, event, etc

Functions of Noun

Subject The one being talked about in the. Sentence The cat is mine.

Vocative The one addressed in the sentence Where is the cat, Mona?

Direct Object The receiver of the action. (action verb) Answers “who/ what” Mona likes the cat.

Indirect Object Answers “to whom/for whom Comes first before DO. Mona left the cat some food
(DO).

Subjective Complement / SNP The one that modifies the subject. Follows a "be verb" Mona is the princess

Objective Complement / ONP The one that goes back to DO. I nominate Mona (DO) secretary.

Object of the Preposition Follows the preposition Mona is in the room

Appositive Renames another noun beside it. Mona, my friend, likes cats.

PRONOUN

- A. Renames/substitutes a noun NOTE: When used as Direct Object, the article (the, a, an) is placed after the DO. Ex. I love HIM (direct object) THE (article) most.

Kinds of Pronoun

Personal Nominative/ Objective/ Possessive I, me, my, he, she, it

Indefinite Identifiable but not specified some, anyone, everyone, none, one

Intensive May be deleted in the statement I myself love you.

Reflexive Must not be deleted in the sentence I owe it to myself.

Demonstrative They point out singular/ plural referent this, that, these, those

Relative Used to introduce clauses which, who, whom- introduce adjectival clauses

That- neuter; Functions as a noun signal or determiner if it introduces a noun

Ex. That Dan won the essay contest surprised me.

Interrogative Used to ask questions What do you mean?

VERB

- B. shows action, existence, occurrence and state of being

Kinds of Verb

1. Transitive Verb - An action verb. Requires a direct object Please dedicate yourself to the review. (yourself is the DO)
2. Intransitive Verb - Does NOT have a direct object Dan prays.
3. Ditransitive Verb - Has both direct object and indirect object Dan left Amy some food.
4. Be Verbs/ Copula Verbs - Most flexible in terms of grammatical function am, is, are, was, were
5. Linking Verbs Succeeded by a complement (modifies the subject) We are teachers.
6. Operator Verbs First word of an auxiliary (helping verb) Will + have been + going Can help form two to three verbs have. will, can.

Note: operational verbs are used in Tag Questions. Ex of Tag Question: You give me your computer, didn't you?

7. Auxiliary Verbs Succeeded by an action verb We have loved you.
8. Emphatic Auxiliary Verbs Emphasizes the action does, do, did We DO wonder how the economy can make a turn around,
9. Phrasal Verbs Two-word verb; Combination of words Ask for, break up, Get back

A verb + preposition/ adverb

In speaking, If used as verb, stress on 2nd element

If noun or adjective, stress is on first word/ element

Moods of Verb

1. Declarative / Indicative Telling someone something. Statement sentence type.

Your statement is true.

2. Interrogative Asking someone something. Question sentence type

What are you doing now?

3. Imperative Getting someone to do something Command sentence type

Will you fill out the form?

Has no internal structure, and no distractor from noun and verb

4. Subjunctive Speaker is uncertain, hypothetical (wishful), counterfactual wish; were; could I wish you were here.

I wish I could join you in your Asian Tour.

5. Exclamatory Exclamation sentence type

What a beautiful person you are!

NOTE: The sentence type may NOT necessarily correspond to its MOOD. You could ASK A REQUEST (imperative mood) in question sentence type.

Aspects of the VERB

Simple Events that are complete wholes (facts) or unchanging. Klay loves literature.

Perfect "prior" action; it is used at some other point in time Ibarra has gone to Thailand.

Progressive Imperfective; event that could be incomplete Mia is exercising at the gym.

Perfect Progressive "prior" + "incompleteness" Leah has been reading this book for a month now.

MODIFIERS

- ADJECTIVE - Modifies noun or pronoun
- ADVERB - Modifies verb, adjective, and another adverb

Degrees of Comparison

Positive Modifying only one (1) subject, Hence, no comparison. She is beautiful.

Comparative Comparison between two (2) equal elements, -er; more

- She is smarter than he, Rita is the smarter of the twins,
- Qualified employees are becoming scarcer. (comparison between then and now)

Superlative Comparison among three or more elements. -est; most

She is the most talented among the group.

Modifier Clauses

Adjectival Clause - A clause that modifies noun/ pronoun; introduced by a relative clause (who, what, which, whom, whose) The victim who was allegedly salvaged is a freshman.

Adverbial Clause - A clause that modifies verb/ adjective/ adverb

NOTE: In sentence construction, usage DEPENDS on whether the verb modified is TRANSITIVE/ INTRANSITIVE

The students oozed with confidence while they were performing their dance.

Additional Significant Terms

Ellipsis Parts of sentence are left out to avoid repetition; deletion
Birds can fly, and I can fly too.

Birds can fly and I too. ("can fly" is deleted to avoid redundancy.)

Pro Form Using another word to avoid redundancy.
Klay and Fidel have cars. I don't have one. (one replaces car)

Gapping Deleting a word between two nonidentical subjects
Gian topped the LET, and Fey the Civil Service Exam.

(topped is removed in the second sentence; LET and Civil Service are not the same but parallel.)

PREPOSITIONS - Mark time, place, location, etc.,

about approximately; concerning The problem with many of the organization's offers is that they are often conscious about what the members think or say about their project proposals.

at specific area/ address specific range . - Our office is situated at 6/F, Sampaloc St., Brgy. Sta Monica, Quezon City. - The Philippine economy grew at a sizzling pace in the second quarter of this year.

beside in addition to I have car payments to make besides the mortgage.

Besides next to I feel giddy when I sit beside you.

for goal, reason, duration I have waited for two years.

from a starting point/ source We traveled from Puerto Princesa City.

In Non-specific time, refers to land areas, marker
I stay in Sto. Tomas.
Most people like surfing, but in my opinion, it is quite risky.

despite shows contrast; negative premise, positive outcome
Despite the hardships, Salvi emerged victorious.

in spite shows contrast; positive premise, negative outcome
In spite of his of affluence, Fidel ended up choosing the wrong decisions.

on Name of streets, roads, avenues, etc. My house is on Nehemiah Street.
Concerning The best seller book, I recently bought is an authority on authentic medicine.

to Direction I like going to the movies.

until up to (the point in time or event mentioned
My friend is not joining our group until he gets approval of his parents with possessing (something) as a feature or accompaniment.

The procedure is in conformity with the given instructions.
Keeping up with the latest fashion is pocket draining.

VERBALS are VERBS in FORM, but FUNCTION as other PARTS OF SPEECH

Gerund - Acts as noun - Ends in -ing, (Noun functions as subject), In SVA, gerund subjects are singular.

Listening to classical music is my favorite activity.

Reading maketh a full man.

Participle Acts as an adjective ; Ends in -ing or participle form (ex. seen. learned)

The dancing queen is my friend.

(dancing modifies the queen)

the increasing number of bullying in schools.

(increasing modifies number)

Infinitive Most versatile as it could be used as noun, adjectives, or adverbs
To + base form (ex. To sing, to top)

To top the exam is my goal. (Noun acting as subject)

The time to ponder (Adjective modifying the noun "time")

I can't wait to top the exam. (Adverb modifying the verb "wait")

* All gerunds in -ing NOT all -ing words are gerund. Some are used as participles (when modifying) or verbs (when used as progressive form of verb).

CATEGORY II – INTRO TO LINGUISTICS

PHONETICS - The study of a SPEECH PRODUCTION

PHONOLOGY - The study of SPEECH SYSTEM

MORPHOLOGY - The study of WORD FORMATION/ CREATION

SYNTAX - The study of ARRANGEMENT/ ORDERING of words in sentence.

The linguistic notion that describes the relationship between verb and nouns/noun phrase.

SEMANTICS The study of the MEANING of words in the sentence

PRAGMATICS Language in use and the CONTEXT in which it is used.

GRAPHOPHONEMIC SYMBOL SYSTEMS of oral and WRITTEN and the relationship between them.

CONCEPTS

- PHONEME - Vowel or consonant - The smallest meaningful unit in sound
One phonemic difference: Said – seed
- ALLOPHONES - The variation/ variant of the phoneme; usually affected by its location in the word
Pin and Spin While both words use the same consonant /p/, one is aspirated (pin) and the other one is not (spin)
*A voiceless stop is aspirated in the case of pardon, appear, tinker, cradle
- CONSONANTS - A stopped letter defined by the way the letter is formed in the oral and nasal cavity
*Voiced if there is vibration. Voiceless if there is none/ without vibration
- DIGRAPHS A consonant digraph is a two or three letter consonant combination that represents a new and different sound, different from its letters; taken as one phoneme
ex. Sh - sash Ch - teach Th- thing Identifying digraphs in a word, he/ she can easily read the word with ease.
- DIPHTHONGS - One side resembling a glide (w); combines two vowel Sounds
/aI/ - high; /aU/- now; /I/- boy
- ONSET - One or more consonant sounds that precede the vowel In a word.
ex.
BR- Brat TH – Think CR- Cream
Not all words have onset ex. ice, i, age
- RIME Letters from the vowel to the end of the words
ex. AT- brat; INK – think; EAM -cream
- VOWELS Speech sounds made simply by shaping the oral cavity to give the sound a particular color or "timbre"
The sound and the letter are not identical in the English language.

Branches of Phonetics

1. ARTICULATORY The sound the human produces
2. ACOUSTIC The sound waves traveling from sender to receiver
3. AUDITORY The sound arriving at the receiver's end

Suprasegmental Feature of Phoneme

Stress Prosodic stress

used pragmatically to emphasize (focus attention on) particular words or the ideas associated with them. Can change or clarify the meaning of a sentence.

Ex. English teacher - the one who teaches English

English teacher – a teacher from England

Intonation The rise and fall of voice in speaking.

Juncture Manner of moving between two successive syllables in speech

Ex. Ice cream - I scream

MORPHEME - The simplest unit of an idea

FREE MORPHEME Morphemes that can stand alone as words

Ex. Council (noun) not derived from any part of speech

BOUND MORPHEME Cannot stand as words; can be inflectional or derivational

-ion, -un, de-, -ation, etc.

INFLECTIONAL MORPHEME There are EIGHT (8) INFLECTIONS in the English language. All presented as suffixes.

Noun (2) gender and case (which means either singular or plural) -s and -'s

Ex. Plural – plurals; Shopper - shopper's

Modifiers (2) degree and intensity- -er and -est/more and most

Verb (4) tense and number -s,-ed,-en-ing

DERIVATIONAL MORPHEME They form different word, same lexeme (root word)

Could be prefix, suffix, infix, circumfix

Ex. Act - Action (Verb to noun) True-untrue; Paint-repaint

Prefix Epi in epigraph and epitaph

Contraction- Shortened form of two words using apostrophe (').

Ex. That + is = That's

Will + not = Won't

WORD FORMATION PROCESSES

1. BACK FORMATION/ REVERSAL - REMOVING what is MISTAKEN for an AFFIX. Edit from editor
2. BLENDING COMBINING PARTS of TWO preexisting forms
British + Exit =Brexit
Smoke + Fog= Smog
Glob + Bob = Glob
3. CLIPPING A SHORTENED FORM of a word
Cab from Taxicab; Photo from Photography; Psycho from Psychotic;
Kinder from Kindergarten
4. COINING/ ROOT CREATION A brand new word based on pre- existing morpheme
Kodak for camera; Xerox for photocopying
5. COMPOUNDING Putting together two morphemes to create a new word
Open Compound Words - ex. Towel Rack; Coffee Cup
Closed Compound Words - ex. Everywhere
Hyphenated Compound Words - ex. Short-term
6. CONVERSION Word belonging to one category can be converted to another
Category without any changes to the word form
Outbreak= Breakout
7. DERIVATION Addition of derivation affix changing its syntactic category (part of speech) Beauty - noun to beautify (verb)
8. EPONYMY/ PROPER NOUN CREATION Name derived from PROPER NOUN. Sandwich from Earl of Sandwich; Hamburger from Hamburg

9. REDUPLICATION - A morpheme or part of morpheme is repeated to create a new word (not common in the English language)

Not REPETITION where words are only added for emphasis and no new word is made. ex. I am very very happy.

SUMMARY

ALL THE TYPES OF WORD FORMATION

1. borrowing - (croissant, sofa,)
2. derivation, addition process, opposite of backformation (happy-happiness) – adj to noun
3. back formation - reduction process, opposite of derivation (happiness to happy, enthusiasm to enthuse, burglar-burgle)
4. clipped form (bra), abbreviation (Doctor – Dr.)
5. compounding (raincoat)
6. category extension/ conversion (chopstick- noun used as verb - She chopsticked the noodles.) noun to verb
7. blend/ portmanteau (por man tow (liger, spork))
8. root creation/coinage (kodak, xerox)
9. proper name/eponym - hamburger from Hamburg

SYNTAX

SENTENCE - A group of words that has a complete thought; an independent clause

CLAUSE A clause is a group of words with a subject and predicate and is used as a part of the sentence.

Independent Clause (Main/ Principal) Can stand on its own. Ex. She lives here.

Dependent (Subordinate) Cannot stand on its own; needs to be attached to the independent clause. Because she lives here.

FRAGMENT A group of words that does not have a complete thought; An incorrectly used dependent clause.

Before the rice fields were lush green.

LINEAR DISLOCATION Dislocation occurs when the subject be rearranged in either left or right dislocation

Nag-iigib ng tubig ang bata = Fetching the water the child.

left dislocation - To emphasize the topic, this constituent occurs earlier outside of its usual boundaries. Ex. Mr. Carl, he's a nice man.

right dislocation - As a clarifying afterthought, this constituent is postponed, occurring towards the end ex. He's a nice man, Mr. Carl

EXTRAPOSITION -Removing the dependent clause in a statement

-A clause acts as a subject is moved to the end of the sentence and replaced by dummy "it".

The lady who won the case is correct. = The lady is correct who won the case.

Someone whom we don't know left a message. = Someone left a message whom we don't know. (Extrapolation of relative clause out of subject)

- It is obvious that you have been misled
- *It that I burned the potatoes was frustrating. - Failed sentence

(because extrapolation is obligatory when it appears)

- It was frustrating that I burned the potatoes.

SEMANTICS

General Semantics - a study of how we can use to think our ways of communication for better communication; could be used in stopping war, decreasing prejudice, etc.

Forms of Referent

COREFERENCE Two linguistic expressions that refer to the same entity

Mercury is the closest planet to the sun and the smallest planet in our solar system

ANAPHORA A linguistic expression where the antecedent comes before the pronoun

My cousin, Myrna, decided that she would take a trip to Europe

CATAPHORA - A linguistic expression where the pronoun comes before the antecedent

He will not allow to be played again. Klay respects himself.

DEIXIS The meaning will be based on spatial and temporal or

The direction of "left/right" may vary depending on where you are looking at.

Forms of Ambiguity

ANTONYMY Words having OPPOSITE MEANING

BINARY - Extreme opposites with nothing in the middle ex. Dead- Alive

GRADABLE - Opposites that may have level and have middle element

ex. Hot - cold (lukewarm. colder. hottest)

CONVERSE - Opposites from different perspectives ; A is to B; B is to A

ex. Husband/ wife

John is Jean's husband hence Jean is John's wife

Above/below The cup is above the table, so the table is below the cup

HYPONYMY/ Inclusion A word of MORE SPECIFIC MEANING than a general or SUPERORDINATE term.

Ex. Narra, molave, yakal are hyponymy of the superordinate word "tree"

POLYSEMY The coexistence of MANY POSSIBLE MEANINGS of a word or a phrase

Ex. Ex. "set" "ear" "mole"

SYNONYMY Words having SIMILAR MEANING

Synonyms can have similar meanings but not exactly the same.

Same sounds and spelling

HOMONYMY Same sound; similar or different meaning

Fair (country event) Fair (reasonable); Pear (fruit) Pair (couple)

HOMOPHONE Same sound; different spelling

Which (to select) Witch (a sorceress)

HOMOGRAPHS Same spelling; same or different sound

Lie (untruth) Lie (lie down)

HETERONYMY same spelling; different sound
Tear (in the eye) Tear (rip)
Does (an act) Does (plural of doe, a female deer)

PRAGMATICS

Speech Act - An utterance

1. Locutionary Act What a speaker SAYS/ of the text
2. Illocutionary Act What the speaker DOES or means in uttering a sentence/ in the text
3. Perlocutionary Act what a speaker DESIRES the LISTENER TO DO/ by the text; the impact of an utterance

PERFORMATIVES

Explicit Performatives Speech acts containing a performative word.

*Do the "hereby" test. If the word can go with hereby, it is a performative word.

*It commonly begins with the pronoun "I" as a subject.

Ex. I hereby warn you to go out.

Warn is a performative word as it goes well with the word hereby.

However, I hereby dance.

Dance and hereby do not go along together (awkward), hence dance is not a performative word

Implicit/ Implied Performatives Speech acts without a performative verb. It has a tendency to be interpreted in various means.

Ex. Will you go out?

This statement could mean a request or a question to be answered by yes or no.

KINDS OF ILLOCUTIONARY FORCE/ACT

Direct Illocutionary Force Same intention and same syntactic form

Example: Intention is to command, sentence is a command/ imperative sentence

Give me a cup of blended coffee

Give me a glass of water

Buy me a pair of shoes

Indirect Illocutionary Force Intention is different from its syntactic form

Example: Intention is a command but sentence is question form

Could you please go? (Command but in question form)

Cooperative Principles by Paul Grice

Maxim of Quality Statement should be truthful and based on sufficient evidence

Maxim of Quantity Statement should be accurate; not more, no less.

Maxim of Manner Statement should be stated in a clear fashion, not vague or ambiguous.

Maxim of Relation Statement should be relevant to the subject.

PUNCTUATION MARKS

Correct Usage of Punctuation Marks

1. APOSTROPHE (') For possessive cases

A shopper's delight; Shoppers' choice

2. COLON (:) To begin an enumeration or a statement

Here is the bad news: the joke was on me.

3. SEMI-COLON (;) - To connect phrases, clauses, sentences, etc. (for longer group of words)

I will strive to top the exam; the stakes are high.

4. COMMA (,) To connect words, ideas, etc.

The country's rice shortage is at an alarming rate, much faster than projected

5. DASH (—) For emphasis and time lapse; An em dash (—), the longest “dash,” is used as a substitute for a comma, colon, semi-colon, or parentheses and emphasizes information.

I felt the need — the need to stop being looked down again

6. EN DASH (–) the second-longest “dash,” is used to show how a range of things in writing are related to one another.

7. HYPHEN (-) is the shortest “dash” and connects two words

Denotation The dictionary meaning of a word. ex. Racketeer is a person who engages in dishonest and fraudulent business dealings.

Connotation The figurative or emotional association of a word

Idiom Words that have special meaning which are different from its actual meaning
Red letter day; sticks and stones

Collocation Words that need to be paired/ partnered together
Doing the dishes
Making a bed Saving time

Archaic Words that were once widely used, but are no longer part of the English language. thy, thine thou ; prithee for please

Slang A language variety used in situations of extreme informality; usually with rebellious undertone

“hook up” for finding a sexual partner; “goofed” foolish, playing around

Jargon Specialist terms used by group with shared specialized interests such as in a certain profession

Meringue for culinary C++ for IT

Andragogy for education

Faulty An incorrect or nonstandard word

Irregardless for regardless

CAMPUS JOURNALISM

News writing

30 or # sign - A symbol placed below a campus paper article

Inverted Pyramid - The style commonly used in writing where it begins with the most newsworthy info.

News lead What Focuses on the topic

When Focuses on the date of the event

Where Focuses on the setting/ location of the event

Who Focuses on the key players of the story

Photo journalism Short and pithy sentences One point to remember in photo captioning

Editorial cartooning - Familiar symbolisms

Such as Salakot of Juan dela Cruz for Filipinos; crocodile for corrupt politicians

Symbolisms are what define an editorial cartoon

An editorial drawing must NOT be abstract.

EDITORIAL

Appreciation - pays tribute to a person or organization that has performed some worthwhile projects or deeds, or accomplishments

Criticism - points out the good or the bad features of a problem or situation mentioned in the news. Its purpose is to influence the reader. It suggests a solution at the end

Entertainment - evokes a smile, a chuckle, laughter, while suggesting truth. It is usually short

Interpretation - significance or meaning of a news event, current idea, condition, or situation, theory, or hypothesis.

The writer doesn't argue nor criticize, but merely presents both sides of an issue and leaves the judgment to the reader.

Copy reading - Accuracy, correctness, grammar, spelling, etc.

Gist - NOT included; task of editor

Proof Reading – find and correct typographical errors and mistakes in grammar, style, and spelling

School Publication Management Editor-in- chief - The one in- charge with the publication

Parts of the Paper Mast head Also called “nameplate ” or name of paper in the UK.

Desk A group of journalists - editors.

Media Forms - Tabloid - Alternative point of view to traditional media

Invasion of Privacy

News worthiness for the General Welfare

Public Disclosure of Private and Embarrassing Facts

“Too private/ sensitive information Such as scandals

Intrusion “Illegal/ unauthorized use of apparatus to record”

Misappropriation “Unlawful/ unauthorized use of names for promotion”

Spread of Falsehood “Fake news”

LITERATURE

Metrical romance - is a type of narrative poem that deals with the story of adventure, love, chivalry, and deeds of derring-do.

- ✓ Called Chivalric poems. They quite often contain an element of mystery and the supernatural. A popular form of entertainment from the Middle Ages until the 19th cent.

Metrical analysis - organizing lines of a poem into feet of stressed and unstressed syllables.

Pastiche -imitation of style

Minimalism -economy with words and a focus on surface description

Maximalism -lengthy; more is more

Faction - made up of stories based on a historical figure or events that are woven together with fictitious elements.

Panchatantra -Fables to entertain Indian Princes

Decameron A sexual libertinism that seeks to revive the great pleasures of Ancient Rome

Sonnet 116 Love does not change to youthful looks may

Epigram short, witty statement that typically offers a surprising or satirical perspective on a topic

Devil's eye -malevolent glare

Anachronism juxtaposition of persons, events, objects, or customs from different periods of time

Pun humorous use of a word

Allegory reveals a hidden meaning, typically a moral or political one

Daffodils by William Wordsworth

Relevant Themes: Happiness – “Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.”

Man and the Natural World – “They stretched in never-ending line along the margin of bay.”

Loneliness – “I wander’d lonely as a cloud

Shakespeare (English) ABAB-CD-CD-EFEF-GG

Othello Tragedy of Jealousy

Romeo and Juliet Tragedy of Love

Hamlet Tragedy of Revenge

Macbeth Tragedy of Ambition

Equivocation type of ambiguity that stems from a phrase having two distinct meanings, not from the grammar or structure of the sentence

-present in Shakespeare’s MACBETH

Tanka 5/7/5/7/7 syllable count form or 2/3/2/3/3

Hokku (Haiku) Japanese verse form most often composed, in English versions, of three unrhymed lines of five, seven, and five syllables

Features of Haiku

- ✓ It contains three lines
- ✓ It has five (syllables) in the first line, seven in the second, and five in the last line.
- ✓ It contains 17 syllables in total.
- ✓ A Haiku poem DOES NOT rhyme.
- ✓ Haiku poems frequently have a kigo, or seasonal reference.
- ✓ Haiku poems are usually about nature or natural phenomena.
- ✓ The poem has two juxtaposed subjects that are divided into two contrasting parts.
- ✓ In English, this division between two parts can be shown by a colon or a dash.

Choka consisting of alternating lines of five and seven syllables and ending with an extra line of seven syllables.

Renga Collaborative poetry; The first stanza has three lines. The first line is 5 syllables, the second is 7 and the third is 5. The second stanza is two lines long, both are 7 syllables each.

Historical Present -describing past events using the present tense

The simple past is used in retelling of past events such as in RECOUNT TYPE OF TEXT.

Half Rhyme imperfect rhyme or slant rhyme

Emily Bronte - Wuthering heights Love is destructive

Trickster Mischievous mythical character

Romanticism - nature, imagination, individuality

Mood (Atmosphere) - overriding feeling of a work

Monkey's Paw -desire and greed

Divine Comedy The work explores ideas to the afterlife in medieval Christian belief Paradiso, Purgatorio, Inferno

Tinkle, Tinkle Onomatopoeia

Creative Speech -student tells the story in his/her words

Declamation-emotional appeal

Dante's main predicament - Wild beasts eat him.

Music -integral part of Chinese Drama

LISTENING

Listening comprehension skills or Enabling skills

1. Listening for detail listening for specific information
2. Listening for gist listening to get only the main and most important ideas
3. Drawing inferences listening to fill in gaps and draw conclusions from the messages uttered
4. Listening selectively listening only to specific parts of the input
Making predictions listening to create anticipations before and while listening

Types of Listening

1. Appreciative listening for enjoyment (listening to music)
2. Informative/comprehensive listen to learn something
3. Critical the goal is to evaluate or scrutinize what is being said
4. Therapeutic/extensive Listen to support others but not to judge them

SPEAKING

Linguistic Interference - applying knowledge from their native language to a second language

The Intercultural Speaker - who is allowed to retain his or her social, linguistic, and cultural baggage and isn't required to imitate the native speaker

Intelligibility - is whether an utterance is understood by an interlocutor

Comprehensibility - is a listener's perception of how easy or difficult second-language speech is to understand

Accent - is how different the phonology of an individual's speech is from that of the listener

Stages in a Speaking Lesson

Presentation stage (Pre-activity Phase)

- ✓ Teacher: informant
- ✓ Students listen and try to understand

Practice stage (While or Main Activity/ Speaking Activity)

- ✓ Teacher: monitor or facilitator
- ✓ Students do most of the talking
- ✓ Meaningful, authentic, and memorable practice

Production stage

- ✓ Teacher: manager, guide, adviser
- ✓ Students use the language for themselves
- ✓ Free use of language (free expression is more important than mistakes)

The different categories of communication include:

Spoken or Verbal Communication - includes face-to-face, telephone, radio or television and other media

Non-Verbal Communication - covering body language, gestures, how we dress or act, where we stand, and even our scent

Written Communication - This includes letters, e- mails, social media, books, magazines, the Internet

Visualizations - graphs and charts, maps, logos

READING

Schema Theory - states that all knowledge is organized into units. Within these units of knowledge, or schemata, is stored information.

- A schema, then, is a generalized description or a conceptual system for understanding knowledge- how knowledge is represented and how it is used

Comprehension monitoring is the ability to accurately assess one's own comprehension

Goals of Teaching Reading

1. Schema Activation
2. Vocabulary Development
3. Reading Comprehension
4. Understanding text organization
5. Application

Reading Process

1. Prereading
2. Reading
3. Responding
4. Exploring
5. Applying/Extending

Reading Stages

PRE-READING STRATEGIES

- to PREPARE LEARNERS for the text they are going to read
- to activate students' SCHEMATA and PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE about the topic.

WHILE-READING STRATEGIES

- to actually READ the TEXT and DECODE the MESSAGE being conveyed
- to provide them with the APPROPRIATE STRATEGIES to develop their reading skills

POST-READING STRATEGIES to REACT to the TEXT they have just read

Reading Strategies

SPAWN Strategy

to examine complex issues while thinking critically about a reading selection:

- S- Special Powers

- P- Problem Solving
- A-Alternative viewpoints
- W- What if
- N- Next

Clines are gradients used to help learners refine their knowledge of words describing a similar attribute, or shades of meaning.

EX. tepid, hot, boiling, cool, cold, warm, chilly, and freezing.

Strategies in Reading Comprehension

DRTA- Directed Reading Thinking Activity - comprehension through predicting the text

SQ3R- Survey, Question, Read, Retrieve, and Review - A Reading Comprehension Method

SQ4R Survey, Question, Read, Retrieve, Relate, and Review

IRI- Informal Reading Inventory - determine students' needs

Skimming means looking at a text or chapter quickly in order to have a general idea of the contents.

Scanning means looking at a text to find some particular information

Three Tiers of Vocabulary Development

Tier 1 -consists of the most basic words— rarely require direct instruction and typically do not have multiple meanings

-Sight words, nouns, verbs, adjectives, and early reading words

-Examples: book, girl, sad, run, dog, and orange.

Tier 2 -consists of high frequency words that occur across a variety of domains, words occur often in adult conversations and literature

-the most important words for direct instruction because they are good indicators of a student's progress through school.

-Examples: masterpiece, fortunate, industrious, measure, and benevolent.

Tier 3 - -low-frequency words that occur in specific domains—

subjects in school, hobbies, occupations, geographic regions, technology, weather, etc.

-Examples: economics, isotope, asphalt, Revolutionary War, and, crepe

Types of Reading Activity

- Shared reading –the teacher models the strategies and skills of a proficient reader

Steps of Shared Reading in Content Literacy

1. Introduce the story by discussing the title, cover, and author/illustrator. Ask the students to make predictions about the story.
 2. Read the story aloud to the students. Pause and ask the students to make predictions. Ask brief questions to determine students' comprehension level.
 3. Conclude the reading by reserving time for reactions and comments. Ask questions about the story and relate the story to the students' similar experiences. Ask the children to retell the story in their own words.
 4. Re-read the story and/or allow time for independent reading.
 5. Conduct follow-up activities such as making crafts related to the story.
- Guided –involves a teacher working with small group of students who demonstrate similar reading behaviors
 - Buddy - paired reading
 - Choral reading –a student or group of students read the story together, with or without the teacher

Types of Reading Comprehension Skills

1. Literal Reading - Read the lines: recall information stated directly and explicitly in the text. Factual (Recall Character, Setting, or Time Details, action, event, list sequence) answers found directly in the text or by information readily available in outside sources
2. Inferential/ Interpretive Reading - Read between the lines: interpret information implied in the text
 - ✓ Inferential– answers to these questions may be implied (address motive of author or a character)
 - ✓ found by following patterns and seeing relationships among parts of the text
 - ✓ interpret theme, main idea, summarize
3. Critical/Evaluative Reading (Global) - Read behind and beyond the lines: evaluate information based on personal knowledge and experiences.

- ✓ Connecting--answers to these questions emphasize the “So what?” of the text
- ✓ link text to prior knowledge, other texts, or human experiences in life
- ✓ Giving an opinion about character, events, realistic
- ✓ Author’s decision, Point of View

WRITING

- a) Abridgment - a book, play, or piece of writing that has been made shorter by removing some details or less important information
- b) Summary - a short, clear description that gives the main facts or ideas about something
- c) Brief - formal document a lawyer uses both to convince a court that the client's argument is sound and to persuade a court to adopt that position
- d) Critique - a detailed analysis and assessment of something, especially a literary, philosophical, or political theory

Types of Discourse

- 1) Argument: to convince an audience that the writer or speaker is correct, using evidence and reason
- 2) Narration: tells a story, often with emotion and empathy involved.
- 3) Description: relies on the five senses to help the audience visualize something.
- 4) Exposition: inform the audience of something with relatively neutral language, i.e., it’s not meant to persuade or evoke emotion.

Steps in writing a Literature Test

- I. Identify the context
- II. Plan for the test
- III. Select texts (seen text vs. unseen text)
- IV. Group skills
- V. Match texts to task
- VI. Write test items

VII. Clarify marking criteria

Viewing Comprehension refers to the ability of the participants to perceive meaning from visual presentations with levels literal, reorganizational, inferential, evaluation and appreciation comprehension

Preparation & Evaluation of Instructional Materials

Points to remember in adapting materials:

- 1) Techniques are selected according to the aspect of the material that needs alteration
- 2) Content can be adapted using a range of techniques (single content technique can be applied to different content area)
- 3) It can have both quantitative and qualitative effects
- 4) Techniques can be used individually or in

- ✓ Modifying content -refers to the internal change in the approach or focus of an exercise

-Re-writing is done when some linguistic content needs modification for the materials to be 'more communicative'.

-Re-structuring applies to classroom management

- ✓ Modifying tasks - Exercises and activities may need to be changed to give them additional focus
- ✓ Adding or deleting content - The book may contain too much or too little for the program
- ✓ Reorganizing content - A teacher may decide to reorganize the syllabus of the book, and arrange the units in what she considers a more suitable order
- ✓ Addressing omissions - The text may omit items that the teacher feels are important. For example a teacher may add vocabulary activities or grammar activities to a unit
- ✓ Extending tasks - Exercises may contain insufficient practice, and additional practice tasks may need to be added.
- ✓ Deleting
 - Subtracting - means reducing the amount of the material
 - Abridging - happens when the materials is not only subtracted but is replaced with something else that does not alter the balance of the lesson or the material.

Peer Counseling

is a special program focusing on peers helping peers. Peer counselor is to mediate problems between students by helping them to find their answers

Peer Assisted Learning (PAL)

provides opportunity to refresh their subject knowledge to develop employability skills such as leadership, facilitation, project management, communication and interpersonal skills

Peer assessment

is an educational activity in which students judge the performance of their peers

Peer Monitoring

help a less experienced person achieve their goals by being receiving assistance and guidance from a more experienced person

Strategies in Language Teaching

- 1) Snowball Toss - a Quick Write or Quick Draw, then students crumple their paper, throw and read so that they can stay rooted in one place
- 2) Quaker reading - meeting of students to share responses to a piece of literature
- 3) Hot Seat - basically take on the role of a character from that book, then they would take on questions from their peers
- 4) Think-Pair- Share - Teacher poses a question to the group, and each student has a minute or two to think about the question, then discuss it to someone and to the whole class
- 5) Round Robin - Students are sitting with groups, and the teacher asks them a question where each student in a group take turns in answering to come up with an answer that they all agree on
- 6) Tea Party - Students form two circles facing each other where they are given a question and they are to discuss it with the student they are facing
- 7) Carousel - Students are broken into groups and the teacher places chart paper around the room with different questions each group has to answer in rotation.

Methods in Language Teaching

- ❖ Grammar Translation Method (Classical Method) - GTM
 - Grammar provides rules; instruction focuses on form
 - Drills from Target Language to
 - Mother Tongue -Little or no attention on pronunciation
- ❖ Direct Method (Natural Method) –DM - exclusively in the Target Language,
 - grammar is taught inductively, modeling and practice
 - Emphasis on correct pronunciation and grammar
- ❖ Natural Approach - NA -Stephen Krashen, yet developed by Tracy Terrell
 - Learners should be relaxed, goal of basic personal communication skills and everyday language situations, emphasizes the 'silent period' (listening only) until children feel ready to speak.
- ❖ Audio-lingual Method– ALM -mimicry, memorization, and over-learning, repetitive drills.
 - Little or no grammatical explanation; grammar is taught inductively rather than deductively
 - Great importance attached to pronunciation; produce error- free utterances
- ❖ Cognitive Code Learning –CCL- Chomskyan Revolutionists
 - A reaction towards the behavioristic practices of the ALM, more deductive rule learning
 - emphasized a conscious awareness of rules
- ❖ Community Language Learning –CLL -in a circle with the counselor on the outside who translates the message into the target (counselor aids the clients from dependence to independence) Conversation is taped and learners inductively attempt together; therapy like
- ❖ Suggestopedia - S - Georgi Lozanov
 - Being suggestible; state of relaxation (Use of Baroque music and provision of comfortable seats)
 - Giving over teacher control
- ❖ Silent Way - SW -Caleb Gattegno
 - Humanistic approach/discovery learning

- Learners should develop independence, autonomy, and responsibility
- accompanying physical objects facilitated by problem solving and materials (Cuisenaire rods, colourful wall charts)

❖ Total Physical Response- TPR - James Asher

- Children listen a lot than speak accompanied by physical response
- The instructor is the director and the students are the actors (utilization of imperative mood)

❖ Communicative Language Teaching (CLT)-focused on all the components of communicative competence (use of language for meaningful purposes)
Fluency and accuracy are complementary, students focus on their own learning process, teacher as facilitator -Learner-centered teaching, cooperative learning, interactive learning, whole language education, content-centered education, task-based learning

❖ Situational Language Teaching SLT / Oral Approach - Speech, structures and a focus on a set of basic vocabulary items (structures on situations) -Repetition, habit formation, mistakes are BANNED.
- produce accurate pronunciation and use of grammar, to respond quickly and accurately in speech situations

STEPS in SLT

1. Listening Practice = s listens to t
2. Choral Imitation = all s copy t
3. Individual Imitation = t checks on a few s individually
4. Isolation = focus on individual sound that cause trouble
5. Building up a New Model = s uses patterns they know to introduce new model
6. Elicitation = s asks, makes new examples
7. Substitution Drill = teacher first modelling a word or a sentence and the learners repeating it. The teacher then substitutes one or more key words, or changes the prompt, and the learners say the new structure.

8. Q&A Drill
9. Correction = s or t corrects the errors

English for Specific Purposes

ESP is designed to meet specific needs of the learners.

Absolute Characteristics

1. ESP is defined to meet specific needs of the learners
2. ESP makes use of underlying methodology and activities of the discipline it serves
3. ESP is centered on the language appropriate to these activities in terms of grammar, lexis, register, study skills, discourse and genre.

Graded Readers are books of various genres that are specially created for learners of foreign languages. They may be simplified versions of existing works, original stories or books that are factual in nature.

Lesson Exemplar inquiry-based investigations that provide teachers with a way of teaching and assessing science- process and communication skills

Course Outline summary of main points of a text, lecture, or course of study

Subject Framework organized plan or set of standards or learning outcomes that defines the content to be learned

Unit Plan concepts and learning goals that are taught over a period of time

List of some commonly used activities in an ESP program:

1. Role play and Simulation Students assume a different role or a role that is present in their future work area.
2. Case studies It involves studying the facts of a real-life case, discussing the issues involved, and coming up with a decision or plan (common for business, medicine, law)
3. Project work students are expected to construct manuals, which explain how it works and/or discuss how their project was made (engineering)
4. Oral presentations students may present or even defend a particular product or issue.

Types of Syllabus (Reilley)

- a) Structural (formal) Syllabus - Focuses on forms and structures of language,
 - a. i.e. grammar
 - i. -Examples include nouns, verbs, adjectives, statements, questions, subordinate clauses, and so on.
- b) Notional/ functional syllabus - focused on various language functions that are performed when language is used, or of the notions that a language is used to express
 - i. -Examples of the functions includes: informing, agreeing, apologizing, requesting; examples of notions includes age, size, color, comparison, time, and so on
- c) Situational syllabus -collection of real or imaginary situations in which language occurs or is used.
 - 1. -Examples of the situations include: seeing the dentist, complaining to the landlord, buying a book, meeting a new student, and so on.
- d) Skill-based syllabus - a collection of specific abilities that may play a part using language.
 - a. -Skill-based syllabi group linguistic competencies (pronunciation, vocabulary, grammar, and discourse) together into generalized types of behavior, such as listening to spoken language for main idea, writing well-formed paragraphs, giving effective oral presentations, and so on.
- e) Task-based syllabus -series of complex and purposeful tasks that the student wants or need to perform with the language they are learning.
 - a. -tasks that the learners actually have to perform in real life.
 - b. Examples include: Applying for a job, talking with a social worker, getting housing information over the telephone, and so on.
- f) Content- based syllabus -to teach some content or information using the language that the students are also learning.
 - i. -An example is a science class taught in the language the students need or want to learn, possibly with linguistic adjustment to make science more comprehensible.

Curriculum

Salient Features of K to 12 Curriculum in Basic Education

The curriculum shall use pedagogical approaches that are constructivist, inquiry-based, reflective, collaborative and integrative; ...

- ✓ Strengthening Early Childhood Education
(Universal Kindergarten)
- ✓ Making the Curriculum Relevant to Learners (Contextualization and Enhancement)-
Examples, activities, songs, poems, stories, and illustrations are based on local culture, history, and reality.
- ✓ Building Skill (Mother Tongue-Based Multilingual Education)
- ✓ Ensuring a Unified and Seamless Learning (Spiral Progression) Gearing Up for the Future (Senior High School)
- ✓ Nurturing the Fully Developed Filipino (College and Livelihood Readiness, 21st Century Skills)

Communicative Competence

1. Grammatical/ Linguistic Competence the acquisition of phonological rules, morphological words, syntactic rules, semantic rules and lexical items.
2. Sociolinguistic Competence learning of pragmatic aspect of various speech acts, namely, the cultural values, norms, and other sociocultural conventions in social contexts.
3. Discourse Competence is the knowledge of rules regarding the cohesion (grammatical links) and coherence (appropriate combination of communicative actions) of various types of discourse (oral and written).
4. Strategic Competence is to DO with the knowledge of verbal and non-verbal strategies to compensate for breakdown such as self- correction.

Language & Literature Assessment

- ✓ Discrete- Point Testing works on the assumption that language can be reduced to several discrete component “points” and that these “points” can be assessed.
Examples: multiple choice, true/false, fill in the blank, and spelling.
- ✓ Integrative Language Testing Methods - based on the unitary trait hypothesis, which states that language is indivisible.
 - Cloze test involves taking an authentic reading passage and removing words from it.
 - Dictation is simply writing down what was heard. This also requires the use of several language skills simultaneously in a realistic context.
- ✓ Washback -the way that tests affect the classroom teaching
 - Positive washback refers to expected test effects. For example, a test may encourage students to study more or may promote a connection between standards and instruction.
 - Negative washback refers to the unexpected, harmful consequences of a test.
- ✓ Diagnostic assessments are used to assess specific skills or components of reading such as phonemic awareness, phonics skills, and fluency. The results of diagnostic assessments inform instruction and intervention.
- ✓ Drilling was a key feature of audio- lingual method approaches to language teaching, which placed emphasis on repeating structural patterns through oral practice. It means listening to a model, provided by the teacher, or a tape or another student and repeating what is heard

Language Testing

ESSAY- TRANSLATION APPROACH - consist of essay writing, translation and grammatical analysis.

STRUCTURALIST APPROACH - views that language learning is chiefly concerned with systematic acquisition of a set of habits.

-Testing the skills of listening, speaking, reading and writing is separate from another as much as possible.

INTEGRATIVE APPROACH - involves the testing of language in context and is thus concerned primarily with meaning and the total communicative effect of discourse.

-The use of cloze test, dictation, oral interview, translation and essay writing are included in many integrative tests.

COMMUNICATIVE APPROACH - are concerned primarily with how language is used in communication. Language use is often emphasized to the exclusion of language usage.

-The test content should totally be relevant for a particular group of examinees and the tasks set should relate to real-life situation.

A REMEDIAL PROGRAM primarily helps students address language skills deficit by helping them acquire self-confidence to face their own weakness and overcome these through the acquisition of self-help strategies.

Acquired Dyslexia - reading ability as a result of brain damage

Aphasia - production or comprehension of speech and the ability to read or write

Jargon Aphasia - individual's speech is incomprehensible, but appears to make sense to the individual.

Anomia - a frequent finding among patients in the early stages of Alzheimer's disease. The high number of Tip-of-the-Tongue (TOT) answers in DAT found in relation to few spontaneously named items shows that post-semantic deficits

LITERARY CRITICISM

1. Classical Literary Theory. This theory is premised on the idea that literature is an imitation of life. It is interested in looking at literature based on:

✓ Mimesis (Plato). Mimesis is the Greek word for imitation. We try to see whether a piece of literary work shows imitation of life or reality as we know it. If it is, what is imitated? How is the imitation done? Is it a good or bad imitation?

✓ Function (Horace). Function refers to whether a piece of literary work aims to entertain (dulce) or to teach or to instruct (utile).

✓ Style (Longinus). Style refers to whether the literary work is written in a low, middle, or high style. Longinus even suggested a fourth style which he called the sublime.

✓ Catharsis (Aristotle). Catharsis refers to purgation, purification, clarification, or structural kind of emotional cleansing. Aristotle's view of catharsis involves purging of negative emotions, like pity and fear.

✓ Censorship (Plato). Censorship is an issue for Plato for literary works that show bad mimesis. Literary works that show bad mimesis should be censored according to Plato.

2. Historical-Biographical and Moral-Philosophical Approaches.

- approach sees a literary work chiefly, if not exclusively, as a reflection of its author's life and times or the life and times of the characters in the work. A historical novel is likely to be more meaningful when either its milieu or that of its author is understood.

3. American New Criticism/New Criticism.

- This theory believes that literature is an organic unity. It is independent of its author or the time when it was written or the historical context. It is concerned solely with the 'text in itself', with its language and organization. It does not primarily seek a text's meaning, but how it speaks itself

4. Psychoanalytical Theory. This theory applies the ideas of Freudian psychology to literature. Freud sees the component parts of the psyche as three groups of functions: the id, directly related to the instinctual drives; the ego, an agency which regulates and opposes the drives; and the superego, another part of the ego with a critical judging function

5. Mythological/Archetypal Approach. This approach to literary study is based on Carl Jung's theory of the collective unconscious. Repeated or dominant images or patterns of human experience are identified in the text: the changing of seasons, the cycle of birth, death and rebirth, the heroic quest, or immortality

6. Deconstruction. This theory questions texts of all kinds and our common practices in reading them. It exposes the gaps, the incoherences, the contradictions in a discourse and how a text undermines itself. The deconstructionist critic begins by discerning a flaw in the and then revealing the hidden articulations

7. Marxist Literary Theory. This theory aims to explain literature in relation to society – that literature can only be properly understood within a larger framework of social reality

8. Reader Response Criticism can be seen as a reaction in part to some problems and limitations perceived in New Criticism... the perceiver plays an active role in the making of any meaning, and that literary works in particular have a subjective status (as opposed to New Criticism's objective reality of the literary work).

PRINCIPLES IN MATERIALS DESIGN (NUNAN, 1988)

- Materials should be clearly linked to the curriculum they serve. The curriculum cycle below illustrates the three phases of the curriculum development

PHASE 1

Curriculum Planning

- ✓ Identify learner needs
- ✓ Set goals and objectives
- ✓ Write Materials
- ✓ Write tests

PHASE 2

Curriculum Implementation

- ✓ Instruct learners
- ✓ Monitor and adapt instruction
- ✓ Write supplementary materials

PHASE 3

Curriculum Evaluation

- ✓ Test learners
- ✓ Evaluate curriculum
- ✓ Plan changes in the curriculum

Authentic versus created materials

❖ Authentic materials refer to the use in teaching of texts, e.g. photographs, video selections and other teaching resources, that were not specially prepared for pedagogic purposes.

❖ Created materials refer to textbooks and other specially developed instructional resources.

Prepared by: Melissa "Mel" Marvic

