SONNET 116

Let me not to the marriage of true minds
Admit impediments. Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds,
Or bends with the remover to remove:
O, no! it is an ever-fixed mark,
That looks on tempests and is never shaken;
It is the star to every wandering bark,
Whose worth's unknown, although his height be taken.
Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
Within his bending sickle's compass come;
Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks,
But bears it out even to the edge of doom.
If this be error, and upon me prov'd,
I never writ, nor no man ever lov'd.

William Shakespeare

35. Which statement is FALSE?

A. Solid particles have the strongest attractive forces in between.

B. Solids and liquids have more molecules per unit volume, hence their densities are higher.

C. Molecules of solids and liquids are more closely packed than those in gases.

D. The gas phase has the least kinetic energy.

In general, solids are denser than liquids, which are denser than gases. The particles in the solid are touching with very little space between them. The particles in a liquid usually are still touching but there are some spaces between them. The gas particles have big distances between them.

Solid – In a solid, the attractive forces keep the particles together tightly enough so that the particles do not move past each other. Their vibration is related to their kinetic energy. In the solid the particles vibrate in place.

Liquid – In a liquid, particles will flow or glide over one another, but stay toward the bottom of the container. The attractive forces between particles are strong enough to hold a specific volume but not strong enough to keep the molecules sliding over each other.

Gas – In a gas, particles are in continual straight-line motion. The kinetic energy of the molecule is greater than the attractive force between them, thus they are much farther apart and move freely of each other. In most cases, there are essentially no attractive forces between particles. This means that a gas has nothing to hold a specific shape or volume.

A fourth state of matter, called plasma, exists when a gas becomes ionized. Plasma exists inside stars and in interstellar gases.

36. Of the state of matter, which has the weakest intermolecular force of attraction?

A. Plasma

B. Liquid

C. Solid

D. Gas

37. Which has the higher specific heat capacity: water or sand?

A. Neither sand nor water

B. Sand

C. Both

D. Water

Specific heat is a measure of how much energy it takes to raise the temperature of a substance. It is the amount of energy (in joules) needed to raise the temperature of 1 gram of the substance by 1 °C. Specific heat is a property that is specific to a given type of matter. That's why it's called specific.

Variation in Specific Heat

Substance	Specific Heat (joules)
iron	0.45
sand	0.67
wood	1.76
water	4.18

38. The direct transformation of a solid into the gas phase without passing through the liquid phase is called:

A. Sublimation

B. Compression

C. Evaporation

D. Freeze drying

There are six ways a substance can change between three phases:

- Melting: The transition from the solid to the liquid phase
- Freezing: The transition from the liquid phase to the solid phase
- Evaporating: The transition from the liquid phase to the gas phase
- Condensing: The transition from the gas phase to the liquid phase
- Sublimation: The transition from the solid phase to the gas phase
- Deposition: The transition from the gas phase to the solid phase

40. Which statements correctly differentiate boiling from evaporation?

- I. Boiling happens at a definite temperature while evaporation can occur at any temperature.
- II. Boiling happens when the vapor pressure exerted by the liquid becomes equal to the atmospheric pressure, while evaporation occurs when high energy molecules at the liquid surface continuously escape to the space above the liquid.
- III. Boiling is always associated with temperature while evaporation is related only to pressure.

A. I and III

B. I only

C. II only

D. I and II

43. Which is a destructive fishing method wherein fishes are driven out of a coral reef by pounding the corals with a heavy weight?

A. Muro-ami

B. Cyanide fishing

C. Reef fishing

D. Corals entrapping

DESTRUCTIVE FISHING METHODS

1. Cyanide fishing - a method of collecting live fish mainly for use in aquariums, which involves spraying a sodium cyanide mixture into the desired fish's habitat in order to stun the fish. The practice hurts not only the target population, but also many other marine organisms, including coral and coral reefs.
2. Over-fishing - fish are captured before they can reproduce, which can significantly reduce population sizes for the future.
3. Blast fishing or dynamite fishing - involves using explosions to stun or kill large schools of fish for easy collection.
4. Bottom trawling - uses a large net that scrapes against the ocean floor to collect large groups of fish.

44. To be safe in the unlikely case of lightning strike, it is best to be inside a building framed with _____.

A. steel

B. cement

C. iron

D. wood

While a house is the safest place you can be during a storm, just going inside isn't enough. You must avoid any conducting path leading outside, such as electrical appliances, wires, TV cables, plumbing, metal doors or metal window frames. Don't stand near a window to watch the lightning. An inside room is generally safe, but a home equipped with a professionally installed lightning protection system is the safest shelter available.

47. How can we prevent developing osteoporosis?

A. Adequate intake of vitamins A and D

B. Adequate intake of calcium and vitamin D

C. Estrogen replacement therapy

D. Less exercise to decrease bone density

Osteoporosis means that you have less bone mass and strength. The disease often develops without any symptoms or pain, and it is usually not discovered until the weakened bones cause painful fractures.

- Eating habits: You are more likely to develop osteoporosis if your body doesn't have enough calcium and vitamin D. Although eating disorders like bulimia or anorexia are risk factors, they can be treated.
- Lifestyle: People who lead sedentary (inactive) lifestyles have a higher risk of osteoporosis.
- Tobacco use: Smoking increases the risk of fractures.
- Alcohol use: Having two drinks a day (or more) increases the risk of osteoporosis.

48. Which of the following has the longest wavelength?

A. Red

B. Blue

C. Yellow

D. Green

Visible Light Region of the Electromagnetic Spectrum

Our eyes are sensitive to light which lies in a very small region of the electromagnetic spectrum labeled "visible light". This "visible light" corresponds to a wavelength range of 400 - 700 nanometers (nm) and a color range of violet through red. The human eye is not capable of "seeing" radiation with wavelengths outside the visible spectrum. The visible colors from shortest to longest wavelength are: violet, blue, green, yellow, orange, and red. Ultraviolet radiation has a shorter wavelength than the visible violet light. Infrared radiation has a longer wavelength than visible red light. The white light is a mixture of the colors of the visible spectrum. Black is a total absence of light.
