

PHILIPPINE HISTORY

TIMELINE

PHILIPPINE HISTORY

- I. PRE-HISTORIC TIMES
- II. SPANISH COLONIZATION
- III. BRITISH INVASION
- IV. THE AMERICAN OCCUPATION
- V. THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION

Spanish Colonization

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1521, Mar 16. A Spanish expedition, sailing across the Pacific Ocean from east to west, and led by the Portuguese Ferdinand Magellan (died Apr 27, 1521) lands on Homonhon Island east of Samar with three small ships, named the Concepcion, Trinidad and Victoria. Magellan calls the place San Lazaro Island since March 16 is Saint Lazarus day.
- 1521, Mar 31. The first mass on Philippine soil is celebrated on Limasawa.
- 1521, Apr 27. Magellan dies in a battle with Lapu-Lapu, chieftain of Mactan, an island near Cebu.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1543, Feb 2. The leader of the most successful Spanish expedition after Magellan, Ruy Lopez de Villalobos (died Apr 4, 1546) arrives in the archipelago. He names the islands the Philippines in honor of the son of King Charles I, Philip II (1556-1598) of Spain.
- 1565, Feb 13. With four ships and 380 men, Miguel Lopez de Legaspi arrives in the Philippines.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1589. The Spaniards establish the first school in the Philippines, the College of San Ignacio.
- 1600. The Galleon trade between Manila and Acapulco, Mexico begins. But Manila serves merely as a transshipment port for the exchange of goods between Spain and Mexico on the one side and China on the other.
- 1603. Chinese insurrection in Manila.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1762, Sep 22. In a side encounter of the European Seven Years War, the British attack Manila with 13 vessels and 6,830 men under the command of General William Draper and Admiral Samuel Corning. The British win the battle and occupy the city.
- 1812, Mar 19. The Spanish Cortes promulgates the Cadiz Constitution. It is a liberal constitution, vesting sovereignty in the people, recognizing the equality of men and the individual liberty of the citizen, and granting suffrage, but providing for a hereditary monarchy and for Catholicism as the state religion.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1863. The educational system in the archipelago is reformed, allowing the natives higher levels of training. Wealthier native families start sending their children to study in Spain.
- 1872, Feb 17. Three martyr priests are publicly garroated as alleged leaders of the Cavite Conspiracy, a movement for secularization and nationalism, which is distasteful to the Spanish friars. They are Jose Burgos (born Feb 9, 1837), Mariano Gomez (born Aug 2, 1799) and Jacinto Zamora (born Aug 14, 1835).

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1882, Mar 3. A talented offspring of the native elite, Jose Protacio Rizal Mercado y Alonso Realonda (Jun 19, 1861 - Dec 30, 1896) leaves Manila for Barcelona to continue his studies in medicine.
- 1888, Dec 13. Filipinos in Barcelona establish the organization La Solidaridad. It demands for the Philippines freedom of press, speech and assembly, equality before the law, participation in governmental affairs, social and political freedom and representation in the Spanish Cortes.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1892, Jul 3. In Ilaya St, Tondo, Rizal founds La Liga Filipina to give the people a chance for direct involvement in the reform movement. Andres Bonifacio (Nov 30, 1863 - May 10, 1897) is one of Rizal's partners.
- 1894, Jul 8. Andres Bonifacio forms the Katipunan. Its members come from the lower and the middle class. The organization wants to awaken nationalism and free the Filipino people from Spanish oppression and friar despotism. The organization believes that reforms can only be obtained by means of a revolution.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1896, Aug 19. Spanish authorities discover the Katipunan when one of its members, Teodoro Paterno, betrays the organization to an Agustinian priest, Fr. Mariano Gil. All those implicated are ordered arrested but many Katipuneros evade arrest and flee to the hills of Balintawak.
- 1896, Aug 23. A revolution is proclaimed by Bonifacio. The event is marked in history as the Cry of Balintawak. In this instance, Filipinos tear up their cedula (I.D. cards) issued by the Spanish government and thereby mark the beginning of the uprising against the Spaniards.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

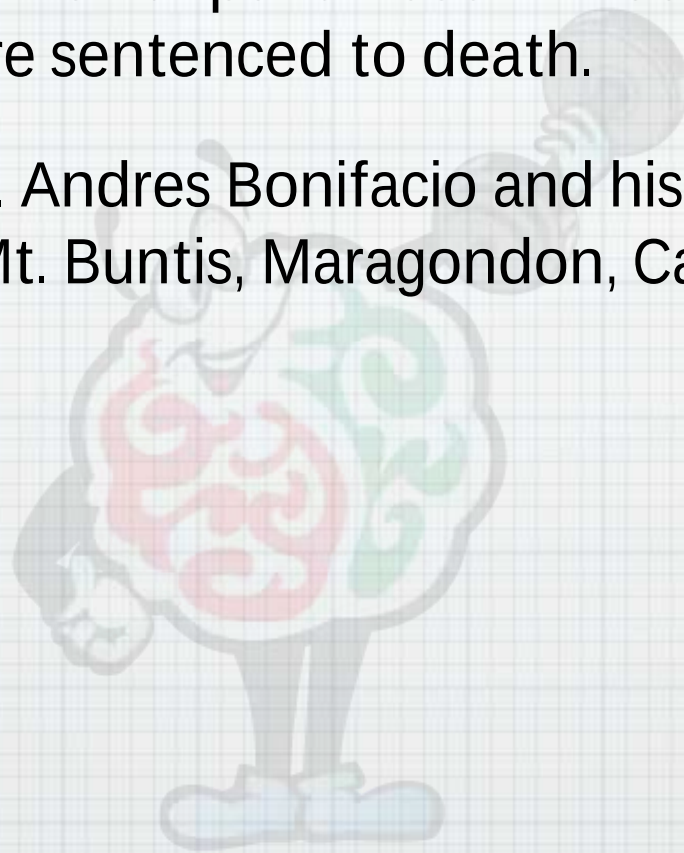

- 1896, Oct 31. A new group of the Katipunan is formed in Cavite; it discards the leadership of Andres Bonifacio and is headed by Emilio Aguinaldo (Mar 22, 1869 - Feb 6, 1964).
- 1896, Nov 13. Rizal arrives in Manila and is immediately imprisoned at Fort Santiago.
- 1896, Dec 20. Rizal is sentenced to death by a Spanish court martial. Governor Camilo Polavieja orders his execution.
- 1896, Dec 30. The Spaniards execute Jose Rizal in Bagumbayan (today's Rizal Park).

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1897, Mar 22. The Katipunan holds its election. Aguinaldo is elected as president while Bonifacio is elected only as director of war. Bonifacio is insulted by the election results and refuses to recognize the new leadership.
- 1897, Apr 29. Katipuneros arrest Andres Bonifacio and his brothers Procopio and Ciriaco on orders of Aguinaldo, who considers the former a threat. The Bonifacios are charged with sedition and treason before a military court of the Katipunan.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1897, May 8. The Katipunan court finds the Bonifacios guilty. They are sentenced to death.
- 1897, May 10. Andres Bonifacio and his brothers are executed at Mt. Buntis, Maragondon, Cavite

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1897, May 31. Aguinaldo establishes a Philippine republican government in Biak-na-Bato, San Miguel, Bulacan.
- 1897, Aug 10. Aguinaldo begins negotiating with the Spaniards, represented by Pedro Paterno.
- 1897, Dec 14. The Pact of Biak-na-Bato between the Spanish and Aguinaldo is signed. Aguinaldo agrees to surrender all arms and to go with his companions into exile in Hong Kong upon payment of 800,000 pesos and an additional 900,000 pesos for the non-combatants who suffered losses because of the war.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1898, Feb 8. The Katipunan is revived by Emilio Jacinto (Dec 15, 1875 - Apr 16, 1899) and Feliciano Jocson.
- 1898, May 19. Aguinaldo and his companions return to the Philippines.
- 1898, May 24. Aguinaldo proclaims a dictatorial government and issues two decrees which show his trust and reliance in US protection.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1898, Jun 12. The Philippines is proclaimed independent from Spain in Kawit, Cavite. For the first time, the Philippine flag is officially raised and the Philippine National Anthem is publicly played. The proclamation places the US in the special position of protector of Philippine independence.

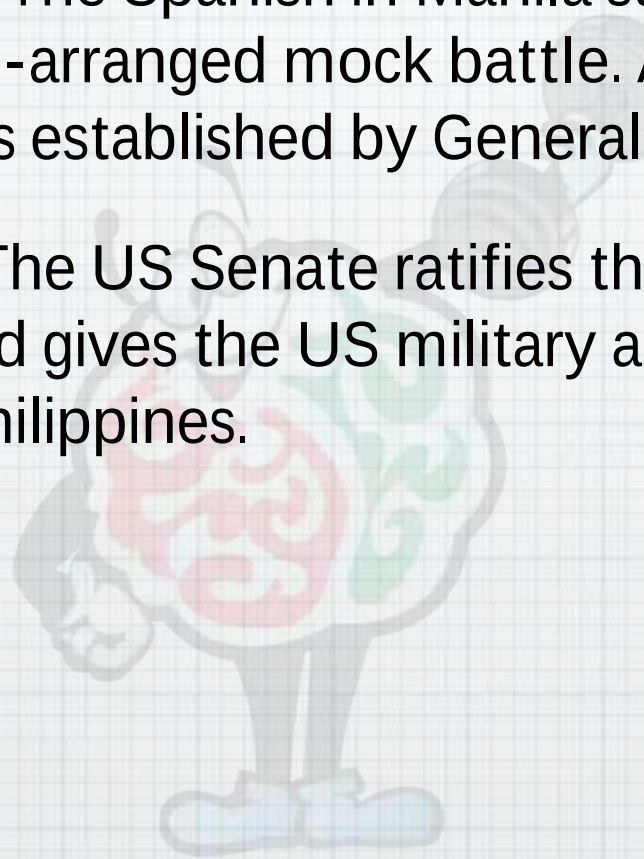

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1898, Jun 23. Through the advice of Apolinario Mabini (Jul 23, 1864 - May 13, 1903), a paralytic but nevertheless the "brains of the Katipunan", the Philippine dictatorial government is changed to a revolutionary government, and in Malolos, Bulacan the Malolos Republic is institutionalized. The Malolos republican government is geared to fight for Philippine independence until it is recognized by the free nations of the world.

SPANISH COLONIZATION

- 1898, Aug 14. The Spanish in Manila surrender to the US after a pre-arranged mock battle. A US military government is established by General Meritt.
- 1899, Feb 6. The US Senate ratifies the Treaty of Paris with Spain and gives the US military a free hand to subdue the Philippines.

American Colonization

AMERICAN COLONIZATION

- 1901, Mar 2. The Army Appropriation Act, also known as the Spooner Amendment, is passed by the US Senate. It provides that the US President governs the Philippines by the authority of Congress and not as Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces, thereby formally ending the US military regime in the archipelago.
- 1901, Mar 23. Aguinaldo is captured by US authorities.
- 1901, Apr 1. Aguinaldo takes an oath of allegiance to the US.

AMERICAN COLONIZATION

- 1902. The Cooper Act, otherwise known as the Philippine Bill of 1902, is passed by a US Senate committee, establishing the Philippine Assembly as the lower chamber of a bicameral legislature. The Philippine Commission makes up the upper house. The Cooper Act also provides for a bill of rights.
- 1916, Oct 16. The Jones Law, sponsored by US Congressman William Atkinson Jones, is enacted. It promises independence upon the establishment of a stable government.

AMERICAN COLONIZATION

- 1934, Mar 24. The Tydings-McDuffie Law, known as the Philippine Independence Law, is approved by US President Roosevelt. It provides for a ten year transition period of the Commonwealth of the Philippines under a constitution to be drafted by a Constitutional Convention, the members of which are to be elected by the people.
- 1902. The Cooper Act, otherwise known as the Philippine Bill of 1902, is passed by a US Senate committee, establishing the Philippine Assembly as the lower chamber of a bicameral legislature. The Philippine Commission makes up the upper house. The Cooper Act also provides for a bill of rights.

AMERICAN COLONIZATION

- 1916, Oct 16. The Jones Law, sponsored by US Congressman William Atkinson Jones, is enacted. It promises independence upon the establishment of a stable government.
- 1934, Mar 24. The Tydings-McDuffie Law, known as the Philippine Independence Law, is approved by US President Roosevelt. It provides for a ten year transition period of the Commonwealth of the Philippines under a constitution to be drafted by a Constitutional Convention, the members of which are to be elected by the people.

AMERICAN COLONIZATION

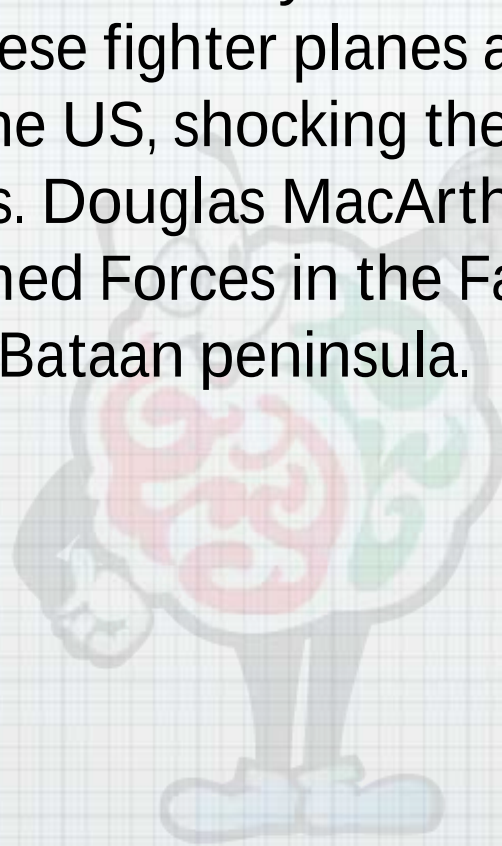

- 1934, Jul 10. Election by the Filipino people of the 202 delegates to the Constitutional Convention is held in fulfillment of the Tydings-McDuffie Law.
- 1934, Jul 30. The Philippine Constitutional Convention is inaugurated. The officers are: Claro M. Recto (Feb 8, 1890 - Oct 2, 1960), President; Ruperto Manansala and Teodorico Sandico, Vice Presidents; Narciso Pimentel, Secretary; and Jose Diokno, Sergeant-at-arms.

Japanese Colonization

JAPANESE COLONIZATION

- 1941, Dec 8. Immediately after the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Japanese fighter planes attack the Philippines as an ally of the US, shocking the unprepared US and Filipino troops. Douglas MacArthur, the Commander of the US Armed Forces in the Far East, decides to retreat to the Bataan peninsula.

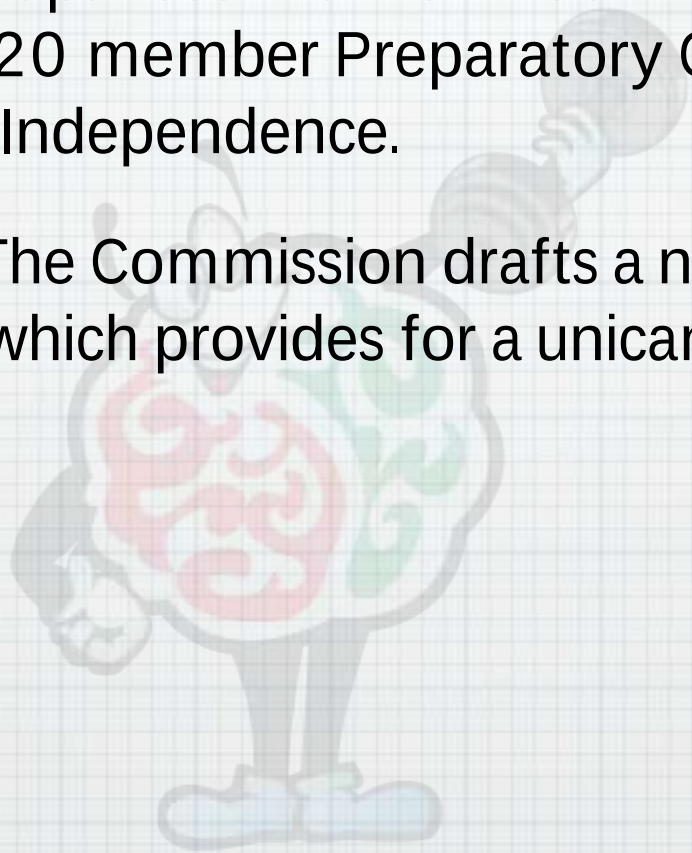

JAPANESE COLONIZATION

- 1942, Apr 9. Bataan, under US commander General Edward King, is the last province that surrenders to the Japanese armies. The infamous Death March follows, the painful trek of 36,000 US and Filipino soldiers and guerillas without food and water. Prisoners of war are bayonnetted or brutally beaten to death by their guards. Those who reach San Fernando, Pampanga, are taken to a concentration camp at Capaz, Tarlac.

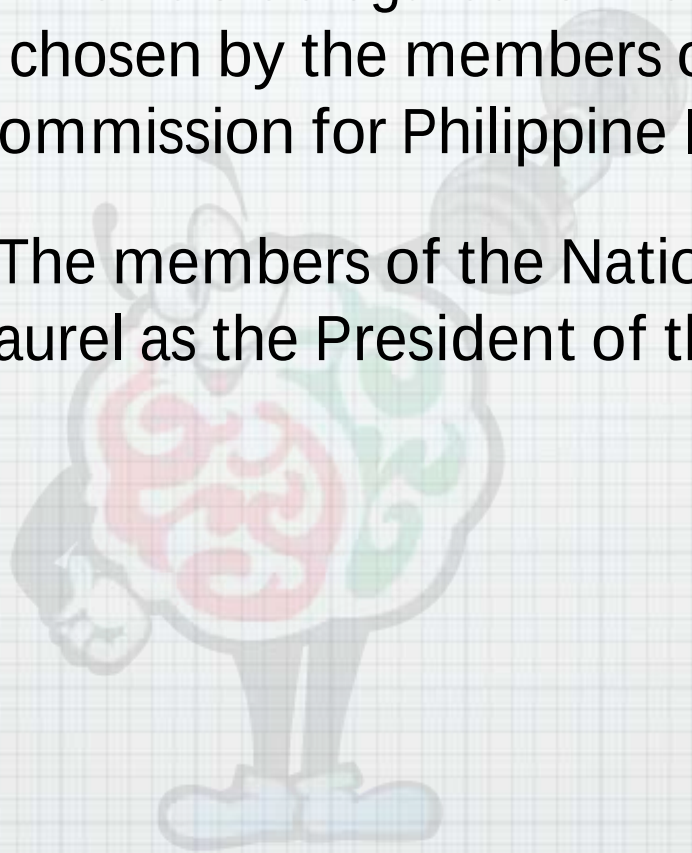

JAPANESE COLONIZATION

- 1943, Jun 20. Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo nominates an all Filipino 20 member Preparatory Commission for Philippine Independence.
- 1943, Sep 4. The Commission drafts a new Constitution which provides for a unicameral national assembly.

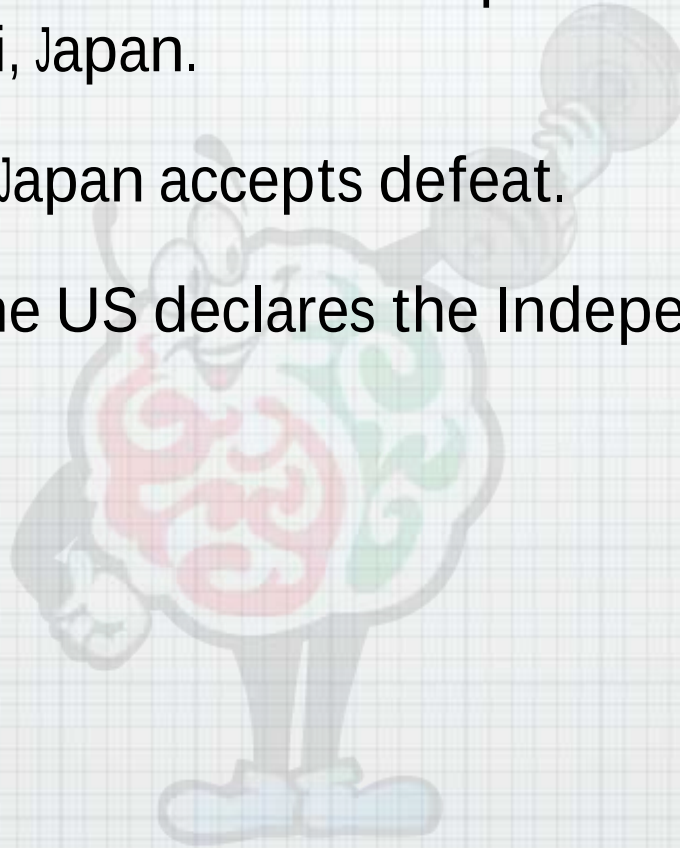

JAPANESE COLONIZATION

- 1943, Sep 20. The 108 delegates to the National Assembly are chosen by the members of the Preparatory Commission for Philippine Independence.
- 1943, Sep 15. The members of the National Assembly elect Jose P. Laurel as the President of the Philippines.

JAPANESE COLONIZATION

- 1945, Aug 9. The Americans drop an atomic bomb over Nagasaki, Japan.
- 1945, Aug 15. Japan accepts defeat.
- 1946, Jul 4. The US declares the Independence of the Philippines.

PROPAGANDA MOVEMENT

DEFECT OF SPANISH COLONIAL RULE

No stability in Philippine Government

- Frequent changes in the government of Spain brought also political instability in the Philippines
- From 1837-1897, the Philippines was ruled by 50 Spanish governor generals, each serving an average of 1 year and 3 months in office.

DEFECT OF SPANISH COLONIAL RULE

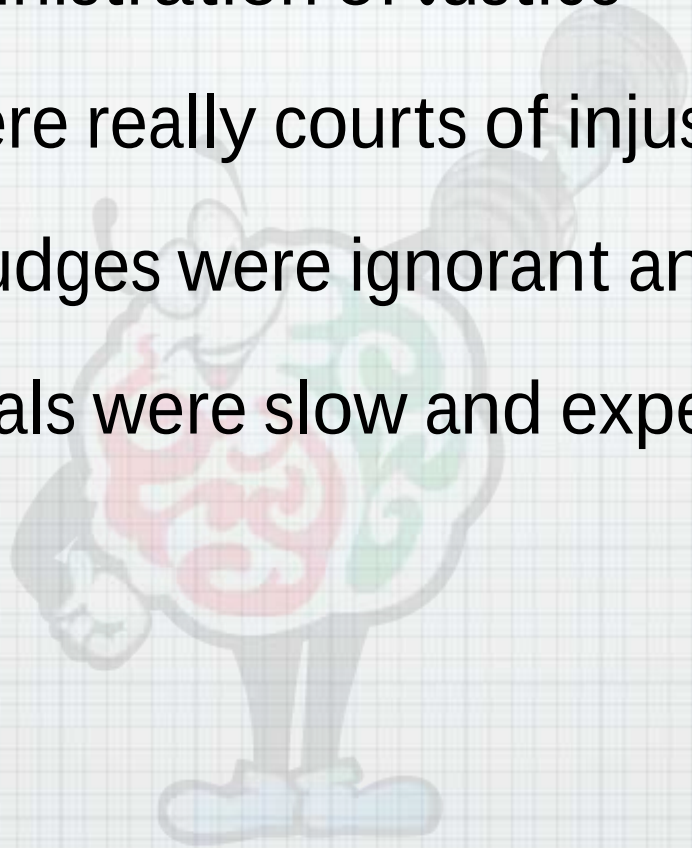

Filipinos were not given a voice in their own government.

- Their previous representation in the Spanish Cortes (law making body in Spain) from 1810-1837, was not restored.
- Only minor government offices were opened to the Filipinos
- Ventura de los Reyes – the only Filipino who became part of the Spanish Cortes in 1812.

DEFECT OF SPANISH COLONIAL RULE

Defective administration of Justice

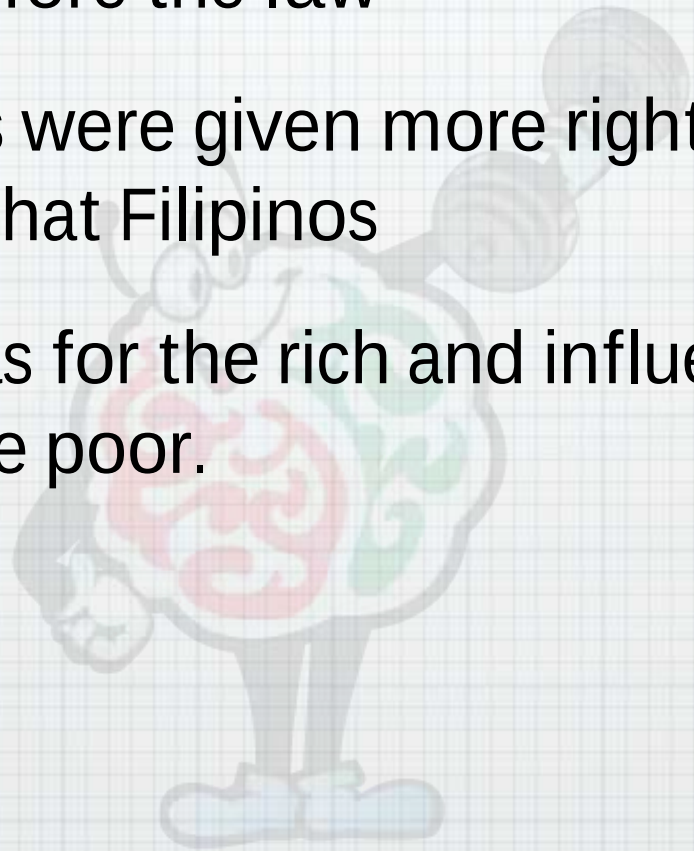

- Courts were really courts of injustice.
- Spanish judges were ignorant and dishonest
- Judicial trials were slow and expensive

DEFECT OF SPANISH COLONIAL RULE

No equality before the law

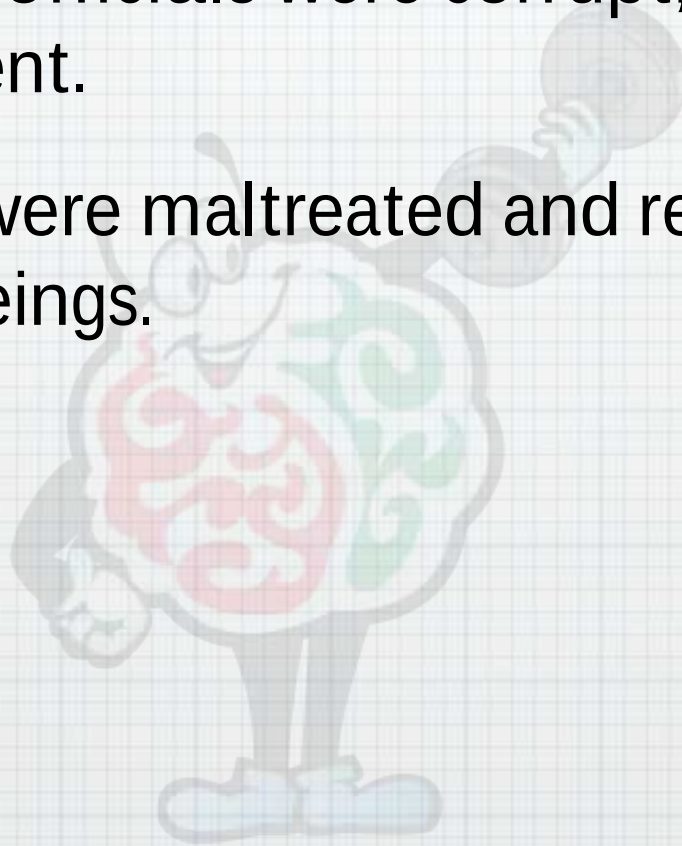

- Spaniards were given more rights and privilege than Filipinos
- Justice was for the rich and influential and not for the poor.

DEFECT OF SPANISH COLONIAL RULE

Many Spanish officials were corrupt, abusive, and incompetent.

- Filipinos were maltreated and regarded as inferior beings.

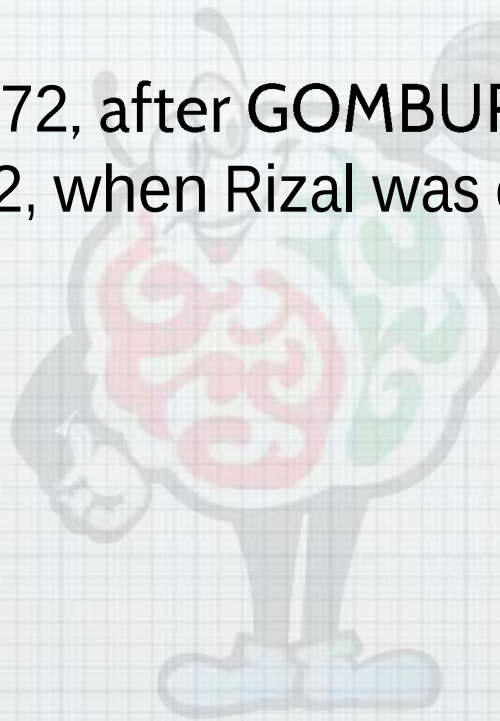

RISE OF PROPAGANDA MOVEMENT

RISE OF PROPAGANDA MOVEMENT

- The Propaganda Movement was a peaceful crusade for reforms but not a revolutionary movement.
- It began in 1872, after GOMBURZA's execution, and ended in 1892, when Rizal was exiled to Dapitan.

AIMS OF PROPAGANDA MOVEMENT

- Equality of Filipinos and Spaniards before the law.
- Assimilation of the Philippines as a regular province of Spain.
- Restoration of Philippine representation in the Spanish Cortes.
- Filipinization of the parishes
- Granting of individual liberties to Filipinos such as:
Freedom of Speech, Freedom of the press, Freedom of assembly, Freedom to petition for grievances

SUPPORTERS OF PROPAGANDA MOVEMENT

- Ferdinand Blumentritt – Rizal's best friend; professor in Ateneo de Leitmeritz, Austria
- Miguel Morayta – Rizal's professor in the Universidad Central de Madrid
- Francisco Pi y Margall – former president of the First Spanish Republic
- Manuel Ruiz Zorrilla – leader of the Republican Party of Spain
- Don Juan de Atayde – Spanish writer

THE PROPAGANDISTS

THE PROPAGANDISTS

GRACIANO LOPEZ-JAENA

- Lawyer-journalist from Bulacan.
- He was considered as the best propagandist, even better than Rizal.

JOSE PROTACIO RIZAL

- The Great Malayan
- A physician from Calamba, Laguna.

THE PROPAGANDISTS

MARCELO H. DEL PILAR

- Orator of the propaganda movement
- A physician from Jaro, Iloilo

MARIANO PONCE

- A journalist and historical researcher
- A physician from Baliwag, Bulacan.

THE PROPAGANDISTS

JUAN LUNA

- The greatest Filipino painter from Badoc, Ilocos Norte

ANTONIO LUNA

- Pharmacist and essayist, a Manila born Ilocano and brother of Juan Luna.
- One of the greatest generals in Philippine history.

THE PROPAGANDISTS

JOSE MA. PANGANIBAN

- A linguist and writer from Camarines Norte.

PEDRO SERRANO LAKTAW

- Teacher and lexicographer from Bulacan.
- Wrote the first Diccionario Tagalog-Español

THE PROPAGANDISTS

PEDRO A. PATERNO

- Lawyer and a man of letters from Manila.

JOSE ALEJANDRINO

- An engineer and writer from Arayat, Pampanga.

THE PROPAGANDISTS

MARCELO H. DEL PILAR

- Born in barrio Cupang, Bulacan on August 30, 1850.
- Master of both Tagalog and Spanish languages, he devoted his legal training and literary talent to fight Spanish misrule.
- He fled to Spain in 1888 to escape Spanish persecution at home.
 - He became the leader of the Propagandists in Spain.
 - Assumed editorship of the La Solidaridad, after Graciano Lopez Jaena.
- He studied in the College of Mr. Jose Flores and transferred in College of San Jose in Manila
- He finished Law in UST
- Marciana del Pilar – Marcelo's wife and second cousin.
- Diariong Tagalog – first bilingual newspaper which he established.
 - It publish observations and criticisms on how the Spanish government in the Philippines was misruled.
- Plaridel, Dolores, Manapat, Piping Dilat as pen names
- Died in Barcelona of tuberculosis and as a poor man at the age of 46 (July 4, 1896).

THE PROPAGANDISTS

GRACIANO LOPEZ-JAENA

- Born on December 18, 1856 in Jaro, Iloilo.
- Prince of Filipino Orators.
- Studied at the Colegio Provincial of Jaro under the care of Father Francisco Jayme who raised him.
- He tried to take up medicine in UST but was rejected due to lack of the required Bachelor of Arts degree.
- He studied medicine at the University of Barcelona but did not finish it.
- Founder and editor of the La Solidaridad
- Fray Butod – a narrative where Jaena exposed the extreme greed, laziness, cruelty, and lust of the friars.
- Diego Laura – assumed name of Jaena when he went back to the Philippines to solicit more aid for the Propaganda Movement.
- Died of Tuberculosis in Barcelona, Spain at the age of 40 (January 20, 1896)

LA SOLIDARIDAD

LA SOLIDARIDAD

- The well known newspaper of the propaganda.
- Graciano Lopez-Jaena – first editor
- Marcelo H. Del Pilar – second editor

LA SOLIDARIDAD

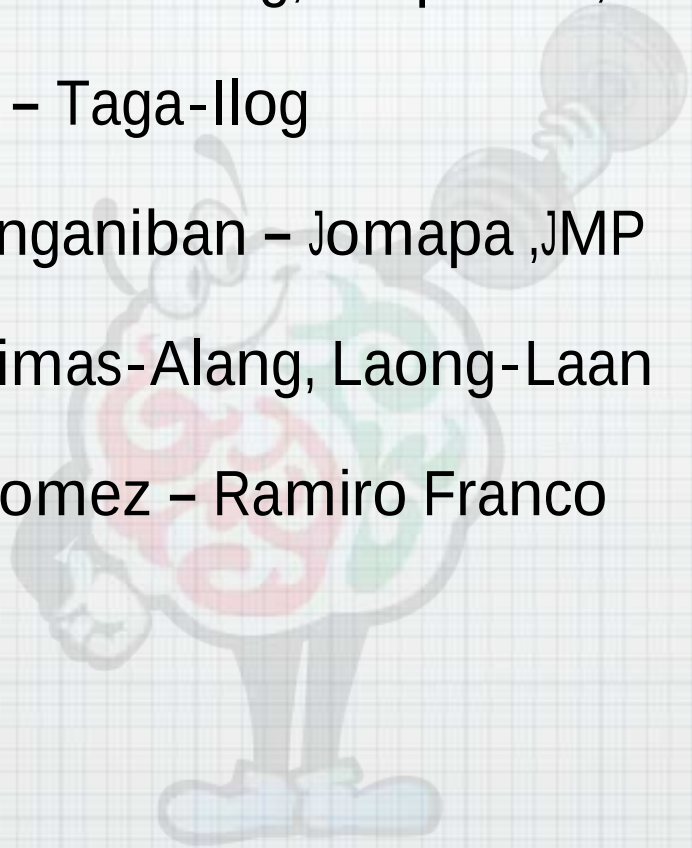

- Founded by Graciano Lopez Jaena in Barcelona on February 15, 1889.

Aims:

- To work peacefully for reforms
- To portray the sad conditions of the Philippines so that Spain might remedy them.
- To promote liberal ideas and progress
- To champion Filipino aspirations for democracy and happiness.

LA SOLIDARIDAD

- Mariano Ponce – Naning, Kalipulako, Tikbalang
- Antonio Luna – Taga-Ilog
- Jose Maria Panganiban – Jomapa ,JMP
- Jose Rizal – Dimas-Alang, Laong-Laan
- Dominador Gomez – Ramiro Franco

FREEMASONRY

- Graciano Lopez-Jaena – established the first Filipino Masonic Lodge in Barcelona known as Revolucion.
- Marcelo H. Del Pilar – established the Lodge Solidaridad which was recognized by the Grande Oriente Español
- Jose Rizal – joined Lodge Acacia, his first Masonic Lodge.
- Pedro Serrano Laktaw – founded the first Filipino Masonic Lodge in Manila called Lodge Nilad

ASOCIACION HISPANO-FILIPINO

- Founded by Filipino Propagandists and their Spanish friends in Madrid on January 12, 1869.

Officers include:

- Miguel Morayta – President
- General Felipe de la Corte – Vice-President
- Dr. Dominador Gomez - Secretary

LA LIGA FILIPINA

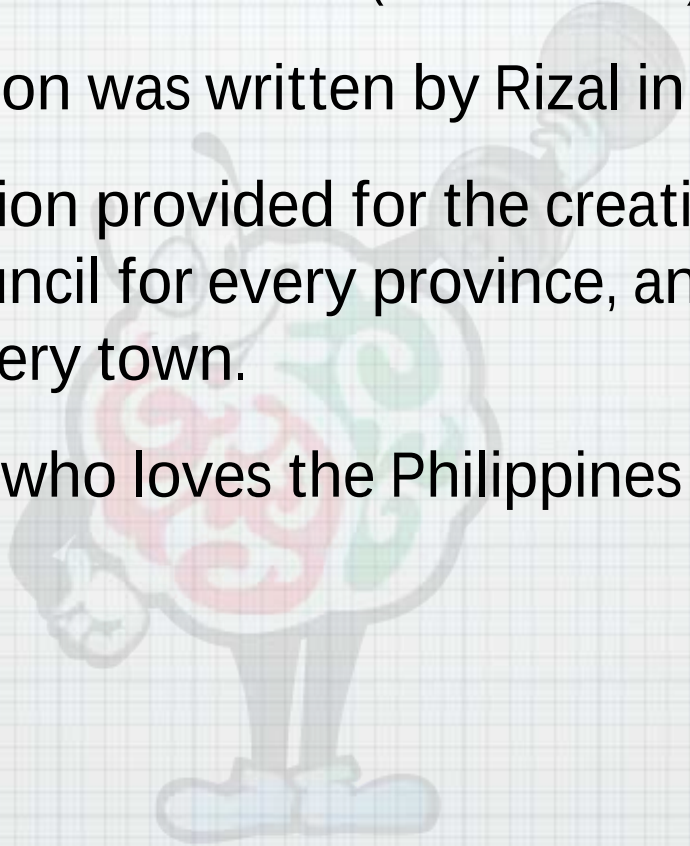

- The Philippine League
- July 3, 1892 – established by Rizal in a house at Ilaya St. Tondo, Manila
- Its constitution was written in Hongkong
- Ambrosio Salvador – President
- Agustin de la Rosa – Fiscal
- Bonifacio Arevalo – Treasurer
- Deodato Arellano - Secretary

AIMS OF THE LA LIGA FILIPINA

- To unite the whole archipelago into one compact, vigorous and homogenous body
- Mutual protection in every want and necessity
- Defense against all violence and injustice
- Encouragement of instruction, agriculture, and commerce and
- Study and application of reforms

LA LIGA FILIPINA

- Motto: Unus Instar Omnium (One Like All)
- The Constitution was written by Rizal in Hong Kong.
- This Constitution provided for the creation of a Provincial Council for every province, and a Popular Council for every town.
- Every Filipino who loves the Philippines is qualified to be a member.

LA LIGA FILIPINA

- 3 days after its establishment, Gov. Gen. Eulogio Despujol ordered the arrest and exile of Rizal in Dapitan.
- Andres Bonifacio – exerted efforts to organize chapters in various districts of Manila.
- Due to lack of funds and Rizal's arrest, the La Liga split into two groups:
 1. Cuerpo de Compromisarios – pledged to continue supporting the La Solidaridad
 2. Katipunan – radicals headed by Bonifacio

SOME REFORMS GRANTED BY SPAIN

- Abolition of the tobacco monopoly in 1882.
- Abolition of the hated tribute in 1885.
- Creation of the office of civil governor for every regular province and making the alcalde mayor as judge of the court of first instance.
- Extension of the Spanish Penal Code to the Philippines in 1887.
- Establishment of city government in Cebu, Iloilo, Jaro, Batangas, Albay, Naga and Vigan.

END OF THE PROPAGANDA

Tragic failure of the Reforms:

- La Solidaridad closed due to lack of funds
- Rizal was exiled in Dapitan
- Panganiban, Jaena, and Del Pilar died in poverty

